

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. For many years Chardenal's Complete French Course has been the most popular and the most successful of the many text-books for elementary instruction in French. Its success is owing largely to its simplicity and its thoroughness. In revising the book for a new edition the editor has endeavored to retain both these excellent qualities, and to make the book still more acceptable by the following changes.

The order of presentation has been altered so as to secure from the outset greater variety in the exercises. Among many other changes may be mentioned the early introduction of verbs and their presentation by tenses instead of by conjugations; the treatment of verbs in -oir as regular verbs of the third conjugation and those in -re as regular verbs of the fourth; the early introduction of personal pronouns, together with the rule for the agreement of the past participle used with the verb avoir.

The practical value of the vocabulary has been increased by the insertion of many words and phrases of frequent occurrence in ordinary conversation.

The sentences for translation have been made lively and colloquial. To many of the lessons there have been added whole exercises consisting of questions only. These questions are intended as a basis for conversational work in the classroom, and may all be answered from the material furnished by the preceding lessons. To stimulate conversation still further, a list of expressions for classroom use has been prepared.

While as a rule one topic at a time has been presented, every subject will be found completely summarized in a single lesson.

The editor's thanks are due to Professor Charles H. Grandgent, of Harvard University, and to many others, for valuable criticisms and suggestions.

ORTHOGRAPHIC SIGNS

Accents. — Apostrophe. — Hyphen. — Cedilla. — Diæresis.

Three orthographic marks are called accents,—the acute (´), the grave (`), and the circumflex (^).

The acute accent, accent aigu, is used only over the vowel e (é), which then has the sound of a in late. As été, vérité.

The grave accent, accent grave, is used chiefly over the vowel e (è), which then has nearly the sound of e in met. As près, père. It is used over a and u merely to distinguish certain words which are otherwise spelled alike, and does not alter the pronunciation. As à (to) from a (has); là (there) from la (the or her); où (where) from ou (or).

The circumflex accent, accent circonflexe, is used on any vowel, which is then long. As âge, tête, île, dôme, bûche. It frequently indicates that a letter has been dropped, as in île, isle; âme (Latin, anima), soul.

It distinguishes dû (owed) from du (of the) sûr, (sure) from sur (upon), mûr (ripe) from mur (wall).

These accents do not imply any stress of voice on the syllable where they occur.

The apostrophe, l'apostrophe, ('), indicates that one of the vowels, a, e, or i has been dropped before a word beginning with a vowel or h mute.

a is elided only in the article or pronoun la; as l'âme for la âme.

e is elided in le, je, me, te, se, de, ce, ne, que (but when je, ce, le, and la come directly after the verb, either as subjects or objects, no elision takes place); in jusque and lorsque; in puisque and quoique before il, ils, elle, elles, on, un, une; in quelque before un, une; and in entre in compound words.

i is elided only in si before il or ils.

No elision occurs before onze, onzième, oui, huit, huitième.

The hyphen, le trait d'union, (-), marks the connection between two or more words or parts of a word.

The hyphen is used between the verb and the pronouns je, moi, nous, tu, toi, vous, il, ils, elle, elles, le, la, les, lui, leur, y, en, ce, on, when they are placed after a verb of which they are subjects or objects. The other cases of its use will be noticed as they occur.

The cedilla, la cédille, (ç), is put under c when it has the sound of s before a, o, or u. As français, garçon, reçu.

The diæresis, le tréma, (¨), is placed over the second of two vowels to show that it begins a new syllable. As naïf (na-if), noël (no-el).

PRONUNCIATION

Most French sounds have no English equivalents. In the following pages on pronunciation, intended only to supplement the work of the teacher by furnishing examples for the use of both teacher and pupil, the word like means somewhat like, when French and English sounds are compared.

Simple Vowels

a (short) has a sound between the a of bar and the a in mat. As la, the; quatre, four; table, table; a, has; à, to; Canada.

â (long) or à has the sound of a in father. The mouth should be opened wide. As âme, soul; bâtir, to build; sale, dirty; fable, fable; pas, step; classe, class; espace, space; nation, nation; tentation, temptation.

a is silent in août, Curaçao, toast, Saône.

é has the sound of a in late.¹ As été, summer; vérité, truth; cédé, yielded; répété, repeated; dégénéré, degenerate.

è and ê vary in sound between the e of met and the ei of their. As près, near; père, father; mère, mother; tête, head; même, same.

e without an accent has a sound similar to that of e in the before a consonant: the door, the boy, etc. As de, of; je, I; venir, to come. At the end of words of more than one syllable it is silent; as dame, lady; farine, flour. After two consonants, or at the end of a syllable and preceding a consonant, its sound is very indistinct, merely sufficient to pronounce the consonant before it; as arbre, tree; samedi, Saturday. It has the sound of é (a in late) before final d, f, r, z, when these consonants are mute; as pied, foot; clef, key; parler, to speak; nez, nose. It has the sound of è before c, f, l, r, s, t, z, not mute, before final t mute or pronounced, and before a double consonant; as bec, beak; chef, chief; sel, salt; fer, iron; ferme, farm; belle, beautiful; net, clean; obje(t), object; secre(t), secret; regre(t), regret; tu es, thou art; il est, he is.

In et, les, des, ces, mes, tes, ses, the e is longer than e in est, is, but not quite so long as e in nez, nose.

In femme, woman; solennel, solemn; hennir, to neigh; nenni, no, not by any means, and in all adverbs ending in -ement, the first e has the sound of French short a.¹

i and î usually have the sound of i in machine. As nid, nest; gris, gray; île, island; fini, finished; midi, noon; ici, here. In the last three of these examples the first i is shorter than the second.

o (open) has a sound between the o of not and the u of nut. Robe, dress; mode, fashion; mol, soft; votre, your; école, school; bonne, good (fem.); parole, word.

o (closed) has the sound of o in note. As mot, word; côté, side; le vôtre, yours; rôle, roll, rôle; rose, rose; chose, thing; fosse, grave.

o is silent in faon, Laon, paon, taon.

u is pronounced like ü in German, but has no equivalent in English. To form it, round the lips as if about to whistle, then without moving the lips, say ee. Tu, thou; rue, street; plus, more; lune, moon; murmure, murmur. It is usually silent after q and also when standing between g and e or g and i. As qui, who; quatre, four; guerre, war; guide, guide.

y following a consonant, or standing alone, has the sound of French i. As type, type; y, there.

y standing between two vowels performs the office of iy, the i uniting with the preceding vowel. As rayon, ray, =rai-yon; appuyer, to support, =appui-yer. (See below, Compound Vowels.) Pays, paysan, paysage = pais, etc.

Compound Vowels and Diphthongs.

ai at the end of verbs, in gai, quai, and in je sais, tu sais, il sait, has the sound of é: j'ai, I have; je donnerai, I shall give; otherwise it has the sound of è: mais, but; vrai, true; je donnerais, I should give.

In faisant, doing, and its derivatives, it has the sound of e.

au, eau have the sound of o in note. As autre, other; chapeau, hat; beau, handsome. In Paul, mauvais, bad, and before r, au has the sound of open o.

ei has the sound of è. As reine, queen.

eu, œu have no equivalent in English. The sound is somewhat like that of i in sir, pronounced with the lips rounded, and is longer in some words than in others. As feu, fire; fleur, flower; œuf, egg.

In all parts of the verb avoir, to have, eu has the sound of u.

ou has the sound of oo in moon. As jour, day.

oi has nearly the sound of wah; more correctly, it is a combination of French ou and medium a. As moi, me; roi, king. Be careful not to get a sound resembling a in the English word ball.

oe has the sound of ei in moelle and poêle.

In all other diphthongs the first vowel is pronounced quickly and the voice dwells on the second. As ciel, heaven; Dieu, God; bruit, noise; oui, yes; juin, June. Distinguish carefully between ou-i and u-i, the latter being a combination of French u and i. As puis (pü-i), then; huile, oil. C'est lui, it is he; but c'est Louis, it is Louis.

Nasal Vowels

m and n, when final or before a consonant, lose their value as consonants and form with the preceding vowel a nasal sound which is a true vowel. These sounds have no exact equivalents in English; and in pronouncing them, care must be taken that no consonant m, n, or ng, be heard.

They are divided into four groups:

I. $\left. \begin{array}{l} \text{an} \\ \text{am} \\ \text{en} \\ \text{em} \end{array} \right\} = \text{an in } \textit{want}.$

As dans, in; lampe, lamp; enfant, child; empire, empire; grand, large.

En is silent in the ending of the third person plural of all verbs. As ils donnent, they give.

II. $\left. \begin{array}{l} \text{in} \\ \text{im} \\ \text{ain} \\ \text{aim} \\ \text{ein} \\ \text{yn} \\ \text{ym} \end{array} \right\} = \text{an in } \textit{bank}, \text{ not too flat.}$

As vin, wine; important, important; pain, bread; faim, hunger; sein, breast; syntaxe, syntax; symbole, symbol.

* En = in in examen, examination, européen, European. Some pronounce en in hymen like in, but the best authorities favor -âne (hymène).

-ien final or in the verbs tenir, to hold, and venir, to come, = i-in (French i followed by nasal in). As bien, (bi-in), well; rien, nothing; tiens, hold; viens, come.

oin } = ou followed by nasal in. As coin (cou-in), corner; loin, far; moins, less; poing, flst.

III. on } = on in don't.

As bon, good; ponton, pontoon; nom, name; non, no.

un }
IV. um } = a slightly rounded unaccented French e eun } (see p. 3), nasalized.

As un, one; brun, brown; parfum, perfume; à jeun, fasting.

Final -um in album, rhum, géranium, médium, maximum, etc., is pronounced like om in homme, comme.

Vowels are not nasalized before double n or double m, nor before n or m followed by a vowel or h mute. As bonne (fem.), good; âme, soul; une (fem.), one; pomme, apple; ennemi, enemy; inhumain, inhuman; européenne, (fem.) European.

* But the nasal sound is heard in ennui and its derivatives, and in all words beginning with emm-, as emmener, to lead away; also in enivrer, to intoxicate.

Consonants

Final consonants are generally silent, except c, f, l, r. Otherwise they usually have the same sound as in English. As sec, dry; chef, chief; sel, salt; mer, sea.

o before e, i, y, or with the cedilla (ç) has the sound of s. As oeci, this; citer, to quote; garçon, boy; leçon, lesson ; regu, received. Otherwise it has the sound of k. As car, for ; cou, neck ; avec, with ; lac, lake ; échec, check (in chess).

Verbs ending in -cer and -cevoir preserve the s sound of c by the use of the cedilla (ç). recevoir, to receive : il reçoit, he received ; commencer, to begin : commençant, beginning ; commençons, let us begin.

c final is silent after n (as blanc, white ; franc, frank), and in accroc, broc, clerc, cric, échecs (chess), escroc, estomac, lacs, racroc, tabac. c of donc is heard in the announcement of a conclusion or before a vowel. It has the sound of hard g in second and its derivatives.

ch has the sound of ch in machine. As chat, cat ; chercher, to seek ; chirurgien, surgeon ; architecte, architect ; chimère, chimera.

ch before a consonant, and usually in words derived from the Greek, has the sound of k. As yacht (iak), orchestre, orchestra ; chœur, choir ; Christ, Christ ; chrétien, Christian ; écho, echo ; chaos (ka-o), chaos. It is silent in almanach.

d final is sounded in proper names (as David) and in sud, south. It is silent in poids, weight.

f final is silent in clef, key, cerf, stag, chef-d'œuvre ; and also in the plurals bœufs, oxen, œufs, eggs, nerfs, nerves, though heard in the singulars bœuf, œuf, nerf. In neuf, nine, f is silent before a consonant, and has the sound of v before a vowel or h mute.

g before e, i, and y, has the sound of s in pleasure ; before a, o, and u, the sound of g in gag. As gingembre, ginger, gage, pledge. g is silent in doigt, finger ; sang, blood ; vingt, twenty ; legs, legacy.

Verbs ending in -ger insert e after g before a or o, to keep the sh quality throughout the verb. The e has no value except to modify the sound of g. As manger, to eat : mangeant, eating ; protéger, to protect : protégeons, let us protect.

gn sounds like gn in mignonette. As agneau, lamb, montagne, mountain ; magnifique, magnificent.

h is not heard in pronunciation. It is called mute

(h muette) when the final vowel of the preceding word may be elided before it, or when the final consonant of the preceding word may be carried over to it in pronunciation; otherwise, it is called aspirate (h aspirée). As l'homme, the man, and les hommes, the men; but le héros, the hero, and les héros, the heroes.

If the -s of les in les héros were carried over it would sound like les zéros, the zeros.

Whether the h is mute or aspirate can be learned only by observation and practice. The following are among the most usual words in which the h is aspirate: la hache, the axe; la haie, the hedge; la haine, hate; une halle, a market-place; les hardes, the clothes; les haricots, the beans; le hasard, the chance; la hâte, haste; le haut, the summit; le héros, the hero (but l'héroïne, l'héroïsme); la honte, the shame; le Havre, Havre; la Haye, the Hague; la Hollande, Holland; le huit, the eight (but mute in dix-huit and vingt-huit).

j has the sound of s in pleasure. As jour, day; joli, pretty; jambe, leg; joindre, to join.

ill, not initial, and sometimes il when final, form the so-called liquid l (l mouillée), with nearly the sound of y in yes. As soleil, sun; filles, daughter.

A vowel standing before the liquid l does not form a diphthong with the l, but retains its own sound; ue and oe have then the sound of eu. As paille, straw; feuille, leaf; orgueil, pride; œil, eye.

There is no liquid sound in il, avril, exil, vil, fil, mil, civil, profil, péril, nil, Achille, Lille, pupille, distiller, vaciller, osciller, mille, ville, village, tranquille. Of the exceptions containing ill, the last four are of most frequent occurrence.

l is silent in baril, chenil, coutil, fil (s is sounded), fusil, gentil, gril, outil, persil, pouls, soûl, sourcil.

m and n, if the preceding vowel is not nasal, have the same sound as in English. m is silent in damner and its compounds and in automne.

p is silent in baptême, compte, corps, dompter, exempt, temps, sculpter, sept, and their compounds. It is sounded in septembre, September, and in psaume, psalm. ph has the sound of f.

qu has the sound of k. As qui, who; qualité, quality.

Final q of cinq, five, is sounded, except before a consonant or aspirate h. q is heard in coq, cock, but silent in coq d'Inde, turkey-gobbler.

In aquarelle, équateur, équation, loquace, quadrupède, quartz, and a few other words qu has the same sound as in English.

r is articulated much more distinctly than in English. As rue, street; rivière, river.

r final is sounded when preceded by a, i, o, u (as car, for; finir, to finish; dur, hard), in monosyllables ending in -er (as fer, iron), and in amer, bitter; cuiller,¹ spoon; enfer, hell; fier, proud; hier, yesterday; l'hiver, winter.

In other words final -er is sounded like é. As parler, to speak; dernier, last; premier,² first; léger, light.

Both r's are distinctly sounded in the future and conditional tenses of acquérir, courir, and mourir, to distinguish them from the other forms with a single r. As nous courons, we run; nous courrons, we shall run. It is always silent in monsieur, pronounced m'sieu.

s between two vowels has the sound of s in please. As voisin, neighbor; base, base; écraser, to crush.

Except in parasol, désuétude, and in compound words, where s retains the hissing sound of its simple form. As préséance, precedence, vraisemblable, likely.

Otherwise it has the sound of s in sister. As sensation, sensation; prisme, prism; héroïsme, heroism.

Except in transaction, transalpin, transiger, transit, transitif, transition, balsamine, and Alsace, in which it has the sound of z.

s final is silent except in albins, aloès, angelus, as, atlas, bis, bloous, cens, chorus, dervis, en sus, fil, florès, Gil Blas, gratis, hélas, iris, jadis, laps, lis (though generally silent in fleur-de-lis), maïs, mars, meurs, obus, ours, rébus, Rheims, rhinocéros, Saint-Gaudens (Fr. nasal in s), sinus, sens (but sen(s) commun), tous (when used without a noun), us, vis, and in Greek and Latin names, as Vénus. In the singular os, bone, the s is generally heard, but not in the plural: un os (short o); des os, pronounced like des eaux.

In Jesus, the final s is sometimes heard, and in le Christ both s and t are pronounced; but in Jésus-Christ the s of Jésus and st of Christ are silent.

t usually sounds as in tutor. It has the hissing sound of s in the combinations -tion, -tial, -tiel, -tieux, and in a few words ending in -tie, which in English end in -cy. As situation, situation; partialité, partiality; essentiel, essential; factieux, factious; démocratie, democracy.

Also in balbutier, initier, patience, ineptie, minutie, satiété (first t), and in proper names ending in -tien; as un Vénitien, a Venetian.

In the imperfect indicative and present subjunctive of verbs, or when preceded by s, t retains its hard sound. As nous partions, question. Also in moitié, half, bonnetier, Poitiers, galimatias, chrétien, Claretie.

th always has the sound of t. As théâtre, theatre; thé, tea.

t final is silent, except in brut, but, chut, dot, déficit, est, east, fat, granit, lest, mat, net, ouest, and most words ending in -et. In sept and huit, the t is mute only before a noun or adjective beginning with a consonant; as dans huit jours. In vingt, t is always mute except in the numbers 21 to 29 inclusive.

w occurs only in a few words of foreign origin, such as tramway (pron. as in English), whist (pron. ouist), wagon (pron. vagon).

x usually has the sound of ks. As luxe, luxury; auxiliaire, auxiliary. ex- initial and followed by a vowel or h mute has the sound of gz. As exil, exile; examen, (en = nasal in), examination; exemple, example. In exception, x = ks.

It has the sound of ss in Bruzelles, soixante, six, and dix; but the x of six or dix is silent before a consonant, and sounds like z before a vowel or h mute. It has the sound of z in deuxième, sixième, dixième, dix-huit, dix-neuf.

Division of Syllables

In the body of a word each syllable must if possible begin with a consonant; as mo-ra-li-té, a-ma-bi-li-té.

If there are two consonants the division usually takes place between the two; as hom-me, vil-le, par-tir, en-ten-du. But if the second is l or r (and the first is neither l nor r), or if the two are gn, the division takes place before the two; as é-glise, ta-bleau, no-tre, é-crire, vigne.

As h is never heard in pronunciation, the consonant which precedes it is always carried, in speaking, to the following vowel; as i-nhu-main, i-nha-bi-té.

The compound consonant x (= ks or gz) always goes with the preceding vowel; as ex-il.

The Linking of Words (La Liaison).

The last consonant of a word, standing before a word beginning with a vowel or h mute and closely connected with it in sense, is often carried over to it in pronunciation.

In such cases s and x have the sound of z, d that of t, c and g that of k, and f that of v. As mes_amis, ils_ont, aux_armées, grand_homme, avec_elle, rang_élevé. In carrying over the n of a nasal, the sound of the nasal must be retained, and the n sounds as if it were the first letter of the following word : mon enfant = mon nenfant ; un homme = un nhomme.

This linking of words, called liaison, is necessary in public speaking or reading ; in conversation it generally takes place only when the words thus joined cannot do without each other. It cannot occur before oui, onze, or onzième. The t of et is never linked to the following word.

Final m, n, p, or r of a noun is not usually carried over. Beyond certain general principles, it is impossible to lay down rules. In reading, the number of liaisons will vary, according to the style of the composition, the shades of thought, pauses, euphony, and the taste of the reader.

Examples of Liaison

Ce petit_enfant est très_aimable, This little child is very lovable.

Leurs_amis ne sont pas_encore arrivés, Their friends have not arrived yet.

Quels jours_heureux ! What happy days !

Que dit-on ? What do they say ?

Quand_avez-vous_été chez_eux ? When were you at their house ?

Je les_ai vus de temps_en temps, I saw them from time to time.

Ça m'est_égal, That makes no difference to me.

Elle répond_à ses questions_amusantes, She answers his amusing questions.

Ils_aiment_à lire et à écrire, They like to read and write.

Il a beaucoup_étudié, He has studied a great deal.

Elle est bien_heureuse, tout_heureuse, She is very happy, quite happy.

Capital Letters

Except at the beginning of a sentence, capital letters, lettres majuscules, are not used for the names of the months and of the days of the week: as avril, lundi; for any word used as an adjective: as un officier français; for any word used to signify rank or position: as empereur, roi, duc, général, cardinal, docteur, abbé, maire, etc.

There are only two genders in French, the masculine and the feminine.¹

Before a noun masculine use un for a or an, use le for the.

Before a noun feminine use une for a or an, use la for the.

Before a vowel or h mute use l' instead of le or la.

le père, the father.	un homme, a man.
la mère, the mother.	une femme, a woman, a wife.
un frère, a brother.	un ami { a friend.
une sœur, a sister.	une amie }
le fils, the son.	l'enfant (m. or f.), the child.
la fille, the daughter.	et, and.

1. Un père, une mère. 2. Une mère et un fils. 3. Un fils et une fille. 4. Le frère, la sœur. 5. L'homme et la femme. 6. Un frère et un ami. 7. La sœur et l'amie. 8. Une femme et un enfant. 9. Le père, la mère et l'enfant. 10. L'homme, le fils et la fille.

1. A mother, a daughter. 2. A father and a son. 3. A son and a mother. 4. The father and the mother. 5. The brother, the friend (m.), the child, the sister. 6. The man, the woman, the friend (f.), the son. 7. The brother and a friend. 8. The daughter and a friend (f.). 9. A man and a child. 10. The woman and the child.

¹ When learning a French noun, pupils should acquire with it an article denoting the gender.

The e of je (I) is omitted when the following verb begins with a vowel, and an apostrophe takes its place.

je, I.

j'ai, I have.

1. I have a sister. 2. We have a friend. 3. They have a mother. 4. The child has a brother and a sister. 5. The woman has a friend (f.). 6. You have a father and a brother. 7. The man has a son and a daughter. 8. They (f.) have a father and a mother. 9. She has a sister. 10. He has a friend, and the friend has a brother.

(1) In a question, if the subject is a personal pronoun, it stands after the verb and is connected with it by a hyphen: ai-je, have I? ont-ils, have they?

(2) When the third person singular ends in a vowel, it is followed for the sake of euphony by -t- before il or elle: a-t-il, has he?

¹ Vous, like the English you, may be either singular or plural. Tu is the familiar form, and is used among members of the same family, intimate friends, among and to children, to animals, etc. Use vous for you in these exercises, unless otherwise indicated.

(1) When the nominative it stands for a masculine noun (such as crayon), it is expressed by il; when it stands for a feminine noun (such as plume), by elle.

J'ai un crayon, il est bon, I have a pencil, it is a good one.

Il a une grammaire, elle est difficile, he has a grammar, it is difficult.

(2) In a question, if the subject of the verb is a noun, the noun usually stands before the verb and is repeated after the verb in the form of a pronoun.

(1) Most nouns form their plural, as in English, by adding s to the singular.

(2) The plural of all the forms of the definite article (le, la, l') is les.

le frère, the brother.

la sœur, the sister.

l'ami, the friend.

les frères, the brothers.

les sœurs, the sisters.

les amis, the friends.

(3) The negation not is ordinarily expressed by ne before the conjugated part of the verb and pas after it.

Je n'ai pas vu, I have not seen.

la maison, the house.

la chambre, the room.

la porte, the door.

leur (m.), leur (f.),	leurs, their.

In French, the possessive adjective agrees with the thing possessed, and not, as in English, with the possessor.

son père, his father, or her father. leur maison, their house.
sa mère, his mother, or her mother. leurs maisons, their houses.

Before a feminine word beginning with a vowel or h mute, for the sake of euphony use mon, ton, son, instead of ma, ta, sa.

mon ami, my friend (m.).

mon amie, my friend (f.).

Possessive Pronouns.

SINGULAR		PLURAL
MASCULINE.	FEMININE.	MASCULINE.	FEMININE.
le mien,	la mienne,	les miens,	les miennes, mine.
le tien,	la tienne,	les tiens,	les tiennes, thine, yours.
le sien,	la sienne,	les siens,	les siennes, his, hers, its.
le nôtre,	la nôtre,	les nôtres, ours.
le vôtre,	la vôtre,	les vôtres, yours.
le leur,	la leur,	les leurs, theirs.

(1) Possessive pronouns, in French, agree in gender and number with the object possessed, and not, as in English, with the possessor.

Note carefully the circumflex accent that distinguishes the possessive pronouns nôtre and vôtre from the possessive adjectives notre and votre.

In the sentence Your pencil is a good one, but hers is a poor one, Votre crayon est bon, mais le sien est mauvais, the pronoun le sien is masculine singular, because crayon, the noun which it represents, is masculine singular. In the sentence Here is my watch; where is yours? Voici ma montre; où est la vôtre? the pronoun la vôtre is feminine singular, because the noun montre is feminine singular.

(2) Expressions like a friend of mine, a book of hers, etc., are in French, one of my friends, one of her books, etc.:

a friend of mine,	un de mes amis, une de mes amies.
a book of hers,	un de ses livres.

la boîte, the box. la craie, the chalk. un encrier, an inkwell.
 voici, here is, here are. voilà, there is, there are. quinze, fifteen.

Il y a, there is, or there are, simply makes a statement: Il y a un livre sur ma table, there is a book on my table; Il y a dix élèves dans cette salle, there are ten pupils in this room. Voilà points out an object and answers the questions, where is? where are? There is my book, voilà mon livre.

1. Voici mon livre; où est le vôtre? 2. Voici le mien, voilà le vôtre. 3. Où est la boîte? 4. Voilà la boîte. 5. Où est la craie? 6. Voilà la craie dans la boîte. 7. Où est la bague? 8. Voilà la bague sur la table. 9. Voici mon porte-plume; je n'ai pas trouvé le vôtre. 10. Voici le porte-plume; où est la plume? 11. Il y a quatorze élèves dans ma classe. 12. Y a-t-il aussi quatorze élèves dans la vôtre? 13. Où est la classe? 14. Voici la classe. 15. Où est votre exercice? 16. Voici le mien, voilà le sien. 17. Voilà un de vos thèmes.

1. There are my books, pens, paper, and ink. 2. Here is a book of yours. 3. Here is the box; where is the chalk? 4. It is on the table. 5. There is my penholder. 6. John has sold his watch, and Jane has lost hers. 7. There are — doors and — windows in this (cette) room. 8. Here are the doors. 9. There are the windows. 10. Here is my pen; where is yours? 11. Where is his? 12. Here are my pencils; where are hers? 13. Where are theirs? 14. Has he mine or his [own]? 15. Is the ink-well on the chair? 16. Where is it? 17. Have you seen a ruler of mine? 18. There is my knife; where is yours? 19. Are your pens good? 20. Are mine good, too? 21. We have written our exercises; have you written yours too? 22. Where is the ink? 23. Where is your friend?

Demonstrative Adjectives.

ce, cet (m.),	} this or that .
cette (f.),
ces (m. and f. pl.), these, those .

The form cet is used instead of ce before a masculine noun or adjective beginning with a vowel or h mute :

cet ami, this friend; cet homme, that man; ce jeune homme, this or that young man.

Demonstrative adjectives, in French, must be repeated before each noun which they modify.

Où avez-vous vu cet homme et cette femme ?

Where did you see that man and woman ?

le chien, the dog. le chat, the cat.

1. Quand avez-vous acheté cette table ? 2. Ce livre est petit; il est plus petit que les livres qu'elle a mis sur mon pupitre. 3. Cette eau est bonne, cette encre est mauvaise. 4. Demonstrative Pronouns.

SINGULAR.

PLURAL.

celui (m.) } this (one), that (one),
celle (f.) } the one.

celles (f.) } those.

Notice that celui, celle, ceux, celles, instead of being placed before nouns, are pronouns and take the place of nouns.

Mon livre et celui de mon frère, my book and my brother's.
Ces plumes sont meilleures que celles de mon ami.
These pens are better than my friend's.

une pomme, an apple.	apportez-moi, bring me.
une poire, a pear.	apportez-nous, bring us.
une orange, an orange.	montrez-moi, show me.
donnez-moi, give me.	montrez-nous, show us.
donnez-nous, give us.	encore, still, yet, again.

1. Mes pommes sont plus petites que celles de ce garçon. 2. Vos arbres sont moins hauts que ceux de notre jardin. 3. Ce crayon est meilleur que celui que vous avez acheté. 4. 20

Demonstratives with -ci and -là.

(1) To distinguish between this (pl. these) and that (pl. those), add to the noun or pronoun -ci for this (these) and -là for that (those).¹

Cette plume-ci est meilleure que celle-là.

This pen is better than that.

(2) The demonstrative pronouns (celui, celle, ceux, celles) cannot be used alone. They may be followed by -ci or -là, by de, or by any case of a relative pronoun.

Voici deux parapluies; celui-ci est plus grand que celui-là.

Here are two umbrellas; this one is larger than that.

Mon livre, celui de mon frère, et celui qui est sur la table.

My book, my brother's, and the one which is on the table.

¹ Observe that -ci (ici), here, points to the nearer object and -là, there, to one more distant; hence, celui-ci frequently means the latter, and celui-là, the former.

(3) Ceci, this, and cela, that (ça colloquially) are invariable and refer to objects or ideas indicated but not named.

Voulez-vous ceci ou cela, will you have this or that?

Cela n'est pas vrai, mais ceci est vrai, that is not true, but this is true.

noir, black.	jaune, yellow.
blanc (m.),	bleu, blue.
blanche (f.),	brun, brown.
vert, green.	rouge, red.

la couleur, the color.

5796, cinq mille sept cent quatre-vingt-seize.

1,000,000, un million.

1,000,000,000, un milliard.

(1) Un always becomes une before a feminine noun: vingt et une maisons.

(2) Et must be used in 21, 31, 41, 51, 61, and may be used in 71, but never in 81 or 91.

(3) Except where et is used, hyphens connect the different parts of any French number under 100, either when that number is alone (trente-sept) or when it is part of a large number (deux cent trente-sept).

(4) Neither a nor one is expressed before cent or mille.

(5) The t of vingt is pronounced only in the numbers 21 to 29 inclusive. The t of cent is silent in 101, 102, etc.

(6) Quatre-vingt and the multiples of cent add s, except when followed by another numeral or used in a date or as an ordinal: trois cent quatre-vingts; quatre cents; sept cent quatre-vingt-dix-sept; page quatre-vingt.

(7) Mille does not add s: quatre mille, four thousand. It becomes mil in dates: l'an mil huit cent douze (or dix-huit cent douze) the year 1812.

(8) Un million and un milliard are followed by de before a noun.

un an, a year.

VERBS.

French verbs may be divided into four conjugations, distinguished from each other by the termination of the infinitive. The 1st ends in -er, the 2d in -ir, the 3d in -oir, the 4th in -re.

In English, the present participle ends in -ing; in French, it ends in -ant. It is frequently used in English with the verb to be, but it is never so used in French. Instead of saying I am speaking, we must in French say I speak; instead of I was speaking, I spoke; instead of I shall be speaking, I shall speak.

je parle,	{ I speak, I do speak, I am speaking.	parlez-vous,	{ do you speak? are you speaking?
-----------	--	--------------	--

First Conjugation.

In the first conjugation, which contains the great majority of French verbs, the infinitive ends in -er, and the past participle in -é.

porter, to carry; portant, carrying; porté, carried.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

TERMINATIONS: -e, -es, -e, -ons, -ez, -ent.

AFFIRMATIVE.

je porte, { I carry, I am carrying,
 { I do carry.
il (elle) porte.
nous portons.
ils (elles) portent.

INTERROGATIVE.

{ porté-je ?¹
{ est-ce que je porte ?
porte-t-il (elle) ?²
portons-nous ?
portez-vous ?
portent-ils (elles) ?

NEGATIVE.

je ne porte pas.
tu ne portes pas.
il ne porte pas.
nous ne portons pas.
vous ne portez pas.
ils ne portent pas.

NEGATIVE INTERROGATIVE.

{ ne porté-je pas ?
{ est-ce que je ne porte pas ?
ne portes-tu pas ?
ne porte-t-il pas ?
ne portons-nous pas ?
ne portez-vous pas ?
ne portent-ils pas ?

¹ In questions, when the 1st person singular ends in e mute, an acute accent is placed on it for the sake of the sound: donné-je, do I give? Any statement preceded by est-ce que (is it that?) becomes a question: Il a reçu une lettre, he has received a letter. Est-ce qu'il a reçu une lettre? Has he received a letter? The latter construction should be used for the interrogative form of the 1st person singular, as forms like donné-je, parlé-je, etc., are found only in exalted style and in poetry.

² See Lesson 3, (2).

trouver , to find, to consider. ¹	visiter , to visit.
donner , to give.	parler , to speak, to talk.
prêter , to lend.	ôter , to take off.
demeurer , to live, to dwell.	laisser , to leave, to let, let alone, allow.
fermer , to shut, to close.	cacher , to hide.
montrer , to show, to point out.	pleurer , to weep, to cry.
aimer , to love, to like.	chercher , to seek, to look for.
penser , to think.	travailler , to work.
bien , well.	sage , wise; (of a child) good, well-behaved.

IMPERATIVE.

The imperative of any regular verb is formed from the present indicative. In the 1st conjugation, -s of the second person singular is dropped.

SINGULAR.

PLURAL.

porte, carry.

portons, let us carry.

portes, carry.

1. Je cherche mes crayons; ils sont perdus. 2. Aimez-vous les fleurs? 3. Est-ce que tout le monde aime les jardins? 4. Ne cachez pas les cahiers de mes élèves, mon ami. 5. Travaillez chez vous. 6. 30

Past Participle with Avoir.

A past participle used with the verb avoir agrees with the direct object when the object precedes the verb.

Ma sœur est arrivée; l'avez-vous vue? My sister has arrived; have you seen her?

Nous a-t-il vus, has he seen us?

Voici une montre; mon père l'a achetée hier. Here is a watch; my father bought it yesterday.

Il a reçu les lettres que j'ai écrites; les avez-vous lues?

He has received the letters that I wrote; did you read them?

If there is no direct object or if it follows the verb, the past participle with avoir remains unchanged.

Nous avons joué, we have played.

J'ai vu votre sœur, I saw your sister.

Il a acheté une montre, he bought a watch.

Elle a reçu mes lettres, she got my letters.

Recall rule for agreement with être (Lesson 25).

Adverbs of Quantity.

An adverb of quantity (like a noun of quantity) requires de without the article before the noun limited:

beaucoup de pommes, many apples.

Exception: bien, much, many, takes de and the article before the noun.

bien du monde, many people: bien des hommes, many men.

combien, how much? how many?

beaucoup, { much, a great deal, { plenty, many.

trop, too much, too, too many.

tant, so much, so many.

autant, as much, as many.

ASSOC, enough.

pou, little, few.

un peu, a little, a few.

lo pain, the bread.

10 sol, the salt.

la faute, the fault, the mistake.

fait, made, done. } participles.

concevoir, to conceive.

que, conj., than, as (at the beginning of a second term of a comparison).

plusieurs, several (an invariable adjective, hence no de).

plusieurs livres, several books.

Beaucoup is never preceded by a modifier like très or trop, but it is possible to say beaucoup plus (much more or far more), beaucoup moins (much less or far less), and beaucoup trop (far too, far too much, far too many).

Assez always precedes the noun : assez de fleurs, flowers-enough.

Autant, and not tant, is used both affirmatively and negatively in a comparison: Il n'a pas autant de plumes que de crayons, he has not so many pens as pencils. Vous avez tant de beaux tableaux! You have so many beautiful pictures!

Peu, little, denotes quantity, while petit denotes size; as a noun, peu is always masculine; un peu d'eau, a little water.

1. Voulez-vous un peu de pain et de¹ fromage ?
2. Prenez plus de beurre. 3. Nos voisins ont moins d'enfants que les vôtres. 4. Avez-vous un peu moins de Fourth Conjugation.

In verbs of the fourth conjugation the infinitive ends in -re, and the past participle in -u.

vendre, to sell; vendant, selling; vendu, sold.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

TERMINATIONS: -s, -s, (-t), -ons, -ez, -ent.

The ending -t of the 3d person singular is dropped after e, d, t.¹
 As the stems of all the regular verbs of this conjugation, except rompre, to break, end in d, the verb vendre is given as a model.

je vends, I sell, I do sell,	nous vendons.
tu vends. I am selling.	vous vendez.

IMPERATIVE.

vends, sell.	vendons, let us sell.	vendez, sell.
--------------	-----------------------	---------------

On, one, we, you, they, people.

The indefinite pronoun on, even when plural in meaning, is used only as the subject of a verb in the third person singular. In many cases it is used where the passive form is used in English.

On vend des pommes ici, they sell apples here.

On chante, parce que l'on² est heureux, one sings (we sing) because one is (we are) happy.

Où trouve-t-on³ des aiguilles, where do you find needles?

le lit, the bed.

la mousseline, the muslin.

la question, the question.

le ruban, the ribbon.

la réponse, the answer.

le fil, the thread.

répondre (à), to answer.

¹ In the irregular verb mettre, to put: je mets, tu mets, il met; in vaincre, to conquer, also irregular: je vaincs, tu vaincs, il vainc.

² Notice that l'on may be used instead of on whenever it sounds better. It is often used after et, ou, où, que, lorsque, pourquoi, si, etc., but not when the following word begins with l.

³ Like il and elle in a question (Lesson 3), on is joined by -t- to a verb ending in a vowel.

une aiguille, a needle.

une épingle, a pin.

un dé, a thimble.

des ciseaux (m.), scissors.

la laine, the wool.

le drap, the cloth, the sheet (of a bed).

40

Exception to Rule for Use of the Partitive Article. After a Negative.

(1) When the noun is the direct object of a negative verb, some or any (expressed or understood in English) is expressed by de without the article.

Je n'ai pas d'argent, I have n't any money, or I have no money.

Elle n'a pas de souliers, she has n't any shoes, or she has no shoes.

Vous n'avez pas de livre, you have n't a book.

(2) After ni . . . ni, neither . . . nor, and sans, without, both de and the article are omitted.

Il n'a ni amis ni argent, he has neither friends nor money.

Il est sans amis, he is without friends.

(3) After ne . . . que, only, both de and the article are used.

Nous n'avons que des pièces de cinq sous, we have only five-sou pieces.

Il n'a que des amis, he has nothing but friends.

(4) Jamais without a verb means never; with a verb preceded by ne, it means never; with a verb without ne, it means ever.

Avez-vous jamais vu des lions, have you ever seen lions?

Jamais, never.

N'en avez-vous jamais vu, have you never seen any?

Notice the position of jamais: before the past participle in a compound tense.

(5) Ni . . . ni, without a verb, have a negative meaning: ni l'un ni l'autre, neither one; used with a verb, the verb must be preceded by ne.

Je ne parle ni anglais ni français.

I speak neither English nor French.

Notice the omission of pas as in the case of ne . . . que and jamais.

1. N'attendez pas de réponse à vos lettres. 2. Je n'en attends jamais. 3. M. Jacob vend-il de la dentelle et de la mousseline? 4. Il ne vend ni dentelle ni mousseline. 5. Il ne vend que des rubans. 6. Ce garçon n'a jamais lu de livre français. 7. Je n'ai pas de soie, mais j'ai du fil blanc. 8. Vous en avez beaucoup. 9. En avez-vous jamais assez? 10. Jamais. 11. N'en avez-vous jamais assez? 12. Presque jamais. 13. M'apporte-t-on du pain et du beurre? 14. Nous n'avons pas de thé. 15. Apportez-nous du lait. Merci (thank you), madame. 16. En voulez-vous deux ou trois verres? 17. Mon père n'a ni porte-monnaie ni argent.

1. These men are very poor; they have neither friends nor money. 2. She has n't any muslin; she has only lace. 3. Has she enough? 4. That is (there is) the question. 5. We have no books. 6. Have you paper only? 7. We have neither books nor paper. 8. I have not an umbrella. 9. Take mine. 10. Thank you, I have already borrowed one. 11. Do you ever return the umbrellas you borrow? 12. Almost never. 13. Not (pas) always, but sometimes. 14. Have you returned the one you borrowed on Thursday? 15. Not yet. 16. Return it to-day, please. 17. My friends never return those that they borrow. 18. Now I have only one. 19. He has money, but I have n't. 20. Have you? 21. I have. 22. How much have you? 23. I have a good deal. 24. One never has enough. 25. Answer this question: have I as much as you? 26. Are you waiting for an answer? 27. I always wait for an answer, but you never do (wait).

Imperfect Indicative.

It has been stated (Lesson 10) that the perfect is the past tense of conversation. If, however, the past action is represented as going on at the same time with another action or as a customary or continued action, it is expressed by the imperfect.

Quand j'étais jeune, je demeurais à Rouen.

When I was young, I lived at Rouen.

The imperfect of a verb may be formed by changing the ending -ant of the present participle into -ais.

INFINITIVE. PRESENT PARTICIPLE. IMPERFECT INDICATIVE.

porter,	portant,	je portais.
finir,	finissant, ¹	je finissais.
recevoir,	recevant,	je recevais.
vendre,	vendant,	je vendais.
avoir,	ayant,	j'avais. ²
être,	étant,	j'étais.

¹ Note again the iss before the ending of the present participle of regular verbs of the second conjugation.

² Notice that the imperfect of avoir is regular, while the present participle is irregular.

The terminations of the imperfect are alike in all verbs : -ais, -ais, -ait, -ions, -iez, -aient.

je portais, I was carrying, I carried.	nous portions.
tu portais. [ried, I used to carry.]	vous portiez.

Conjugate the imperfect indicative of each of the verbs given on page 89, using that of porter as a model.

47

The Future Tense.

The future of a verb may be formed by adding -ai to the infinitive.

INFINITIVE.	FUTURE.
porter, to carry.	je porterai, I shall carry.
finir, to finish.	je finirai, I shall finish.
recevoir.	je recevrai.
vendre.	je vendrai.

Drop oi from the infinitive ending of the third conjugation and e from that of the fourth, when adding the terminations of the future. Avoir and être are irregular:

avoir.	j'aurai.
être.	je serai.

The terminations of the future are alike in all verbs:
-ai, -as, -a, -ons, -ez, -ont.

FUTURE OF porter.

je porterai.	nous porterons.
tu porteras.	vous porterez.
il portera.	ils porteront.

Conjugate the future of each of the above verbs, using that of porter as a model.

un moment, a moment.	l'après-midi (m. or f.), afternoon.
le bord, the edge, shore, border.	bientôt, soon.
la mer, the sea.	plus tôt, sooner.
au bord de la mer, at the seashore.	tout de suite, immediately, at once.
demain, to-morrow.	prêt, ready. prochain (adj.), next.	fatigué, tired. jeudi prochain, ¹ next Thursday.	bien aise, glad.
la semaine prochaine, next week.	coûter, to cost.
le mois prochain, next month.	réussir, to succeed.
l'année prochaine, next year.	ne (. . .) plus, no more, no longer, not again. il y aura, there will be.

1. Votre père arrivera demain, j'en suis sûr. 2. Aurons-nous aujourd'hui les lettres que nous attendons? 3. Vous recevrez aussi beaucoup de jolies choses. 4. Lequel (relative); dont.

(1) We have seen (Lessons 17 and 46) that the nominative case of the relative pronoun is qui, and the accusative que.

The relative pronoun which after a preposition is lequel (laquelle, lesquels, lesquelles).

Où est le crayon avec lequel j'ai écrit cette lettre?

Where is the pencil with which I wrote this letter?

Voici la table sur laquelle j'ai mis votre porte-monnaie.

Here is the table on which I put your purse.

(2) Où, to which, in which, where, is frequently used for à or dans and a relative, referring to place and time.

La maison où nous sommes allés, The house to which we went.

La ville où il demeure, The city in which he lives.

Le moment où elle est partie, The moment at which (or when) she started.

Notice: d'où = whence.

(3) When of which, of whom, or whose are not interrogative, they may be expressed by dont for both genders and numbers, instead of duquel, de laquelle, desquels, desquelles, or instead of de qui (persons only).

Apportez-moi le livre dont j'ai parlé, bring me the book of which I spoke.
L'homme dont la fille est arrivée, the man whose daughter has arrived.

La femme dont (de qui, de laquelle) j'ai vu le fils,¹
The woman whose son I have seen.

(4) If the object possessed is dependent upon a preposition, then duquel, de laquelle, etc., or de qui (persons only), must be used instead of dont.

L'homme du fils duquel (de qui) nous parlions, the man of whose son we were speaking.

Ce qui, ce que.

Donnez-moi ce que vous avez, give me what you have.

Ce qui est vrai est bon, what is true is good.

Dites-moi ce que c'est, tell me what it is.

Ce qui m'amuse, c'est ce tableau, what amuses me is this picture.

Ce qui m'amuse, c'est ce qu'il a dit, what amuses me is what he has said.

Celui qui est arrivé, (c')est mon père, he who has come is my father.

Notice that in some of these examples ce is used to repeat the preceding subject. This is the usual construction when the subject is a clause, especially if without the ce the meaning of the spoken sentence would not be clear.

Tout ce qui, tout ce que.

(2) Everything that or all that (sing.) is expressed by tout ce qui, if that is the subject; by tout ce que, if that is the object.

Donnez-moi tout ce qui est sur la table, give me everything that is on the table.

Donnez-moi tout ce que vous avez, give me all you have.

Quoi.

(3) Quoi, what, may be either a relative pronoun or an interrogative. It never refers to persons and is generally used with a preposition. It is also used alone.

De quoi parlez-vous, of what are you speaking?

Voilà de quoi je parle, that is what I am speaking of.

Quoi! il est parti? What! he has gone?

Il n'a pas de quoi payer, he has n't anything to pay with.

Il n'y a pas de quoi (parler), { there is n't anything worth mentioning, *don't mention it, you are welcome.*¹

Notice also the expression un je ne sais quoi, a certain indefinable something.

Qu'est-ce qui.

(4) We have seen that the nominative case of the interrogative pronoun who is qui. The nominative of the interrogative what is qu'est-ce qui.

Qui est arrivé, who has arrived?

Qu'est-ce qui est arrivé, what has happened?

Que.

(5) Que, either relative or interrogative, is used only as the direct object of a verb.

Que dites-vous, what do you say?

Qu'est-ce qu'il a fait, what did he do?

¹ In reply to thanks, You are welcome is expressed by Il n'y a pas de quoi or Ce n'est pas la peine.

arriver, to arrive, to happen.	remercier, to thank.
payer, to pay.	parler mal, to speak ill.

Why is she so unhappy? 21. Are n't her daughters industrious?

Position of Adverbs and of tout, rien, and personne.

(1) Adverbs generally stand after the verb in a simple tense, and before the past participle in a compound tense.

Elle parle bien français, she speaks French well.

Elle a bien parlé, she has spoken well.

Exceptions: Hier, aujourd'hui, demain, ici, là, and most adverbial phrases¹ are placed after the past participle.

Ils sont partis hier, they left yesterday.

Elle a fini tout à l'heure, she has just now finished.

(2) As direct objects, tout (everything, all) and rien (nothing) precede the past participle, but personne (nobody) follows it.

J'ai tout perdu, I lost everything.

Je n'ai rien vu, I have seen nothing.

Je n'ai rencontré personne, I met nobody.

Rien and personne (like jamais, never) require ne before the verb; used alone or without a verb, they retain their negative meaning.

Personne n'est absent, nobody is absent.

N'avez-vous vu personne? Personne.

Have you seen no one? No one.

N'avez-vous rien trouvé? Rien.

Have you found nothing? Nothing.

ne . . . pas , ² not.	cette nuit, last night.
ne . . . jamais, never.	ri, laughed.
	dormi, slept.
ne . . . plus , ³ no more, no longer.	être bien mis(e) , ⁴ to be well dressed.
ne . . . guère, scarcely, but a little.	être mal mis(e), to be badly dressed.
ne . . . rien, nothing, not anything.	enfin, finally, at last.
ne . . . personne, nobody, not any- body, no one.	à peine, hardly.
hier soir, last evening.	tout à fait, wholly, quite.
ce soir, this evening, to-night.	tout à l'heure, just now.
	alors, then.

² In these negative expressions, the place of pas is taken by point, jamais, etc. Personne alone follows the past participle.

⁴ Mis (past part. of mettre, to put) agrees with subject of être.

1. Mon frère a beaucoup pleuré ce matin. 2. Dites moi pourquoi. 3. Je vous l'ai déjà dit. 4. Il pensait qu'il avait perdu son argent hier soir. 5. L'avait-il vraiment perdu? 6. Il n'avait rien perdu. 7. Personne n'a rien perdu. 8. Vous avez bien écrit votre thème. 9. Qui a mal agi? 10. Il n'a guère d'argent. 11. Cette lettre est très bien écrite. 12. Saviez-vous alors que votre frère était déjà revenu hier? 13. A quelle heure serez-vous ici demain? 14. Toutes ses amies sont toujours bien mises. 15. Nous sommes partis de Paris hier soir. 16. Personne n'est encore revenu. 17. Je n'ai point réussi. 18. Avez-vous tout vu? 19. Je n'ai rien vu. 20. Quand nous étions chez eux, ils n'avaient encore rien vendu. 21. Personne n'a pris ce que vous avez perdu. 22. Personne? 23. Personne. 24. Mon ami parle bien italien.

In these expressions bien is generally used for very or quite : vous avez bien raison, il a bien peur.

Qu'avez-vous ? What is the matter with you ?

Je n'ai rien, nothing is the matter with me.

Il a quelque chose, something ails him.

Qu'y a-t-il ? What is the matter ?

Il n'y a rien, there is nothing the matter.

N'importe, no matter, never mind.

Recall idiomatic use of avoir in asking or stating a person's age (Lesson 52).

Quel âge a-t-il ? How old is he ?

Il a trente ans, et son frère en a vingt-cinq, he is thirty, and his brother is twenty-five.

(2) In speaking of parts of the body, the definite article is ordinarily used for my, his, her, etc., if the possessor is the subject of the sentence.

Il a le bras cassé, his arm is broken.

Elle a les yeux bleus, she has blue eyes.

Montrez-moi la main droite, show me your right hand.

(3) With the three words mal, froid, and chaud, the person spoken of is made the subject of avoir.

Il a mal au bras, his arm is sore, or aches.

J'ai bien froid aux mains, my hands are very cold.

le corps, the body.

la tête, the head.

les cheveux (m.), the hair.

Conditional Mode.

(1) The present conditional of most verbs may be formed by adding -ais to the infinitive. The first person conditional of any French verb is the first person of the future with s added. The endings are the same as those of the imperfect.¹

TERMINATIONS: -ais, -ais, -ait, -ions, -iez, -aient.

INFINITIVE.	FUTURE.	CONDITIONAL.
porter, to carry,	je porterai, I shall carry,	je porterais, I should carry.
finir,	je finirai,	je finirais.
recevoir,	je recevrai,	je recevrais.
vendre,	je vendrai,	je vendrais.
avoir,	j'aurai,	j'aurais.

¹ In other words, to conjugate the conditional, add s to the first singular of the future and conjugate with the endings of the imperfect.

être,	je serai,	je serais.
aller,	j'irai,	j'irais.
faire,	je ferai,	je ferais.
dire,	je dirai,	je dirais.
savoir,	je saurai,	je saurais.
voir,	je verrai,	je verrais.

PRESENT CONDITIONAL OF Porter.

je porterais, I should or would	nous porterions.
tu porterais. carry.	vous porteriez.
il porterait.	ils porteraient.

Conditional Sentences.

(2) The conditional does not denote a condition, but the conclusion to a condition. Neither the future nor the conditional is used after *si*¹ (if), except in the sense of whether.

Je ne sais pas s'il réussira, I do not know whether he will succeed.

Je ne savais pas s'il réussirait, I did not know whether he would succeed.

(3) Examine the following examples of conditional sentences :

CONDITION.	CONCLUSION.
Si vous êtes ici demain, If you are here to-morrow, If you will be here to-morrow,	je serai content. I shall be glad.
Si vous étiez ici maintenant, If you were here now,
Si vous restiez ici, If you stayed here, If you would stay here, If you were to stay here,	je serais content. I should be glad.
Si vous étiez resté ici, If you had stayed here,	j'aurais été content. I should have been glad.

¹ i is elided in si only when followed by il or ils : s'il est, s'ils sont.

It will be seen from these examples that the if clause takes the present tense when the conclusion is in the future, and the imperfect when the conclusion is in the conditional. Notice that in the examples this rule holds true, whatever the corresponding English form may be.¹

If you do (or will), I shall.

If you did (or would), I should.

tromper, to deceive.

oser, to dare.

le choix, the choice.

sans, without, but for.

longtemps, a long time, long.

plus longtemps, longer.

il y aurait, there would be.

y aurait-il, would there be?

1. Si nous avions le temps, nous visiterions cette ville dont il parlait tout à l'heure. 2. Elle est pleine de tableaux magnifiques. 3. Je vous gronderai bien, si vous oubliez ma bague. 4. Je vous aurais attendu jusqu'à deux heures, si j'avais eu le temps.

For Oral Drill.— 1. He will receive; he would receive. 2. If he will sell; if he would sell; if he sold; if he sells; if he were to sell. 3. If he has sold; if he had sold. 4. We shall go; we should go. 5. If we go; if we were to go. 6. She has gone; she had gone; she will have gone; she would have gone. 7. If you see; if you will see; if you saw; if you had seen. 8. I shall do it, if you speak of it; I should do it, if you spoke of it; I should have done it, if you had spoken of it; I will do it, if you will speak of it. 9. Would you do it, if I spoke of it? 10. Will you do it, if I speak of it? 11. Would you not have done it, if I had spoken of it?

1. If he does not obey his parents, he will be unhappy all his life. 2. She would deceive her father, if she dared. 3. But she would not dare. 4. Should you visit them if you had time? 16. Shall you visit them when you have money enough? 17. If you are at liberty this evening, shall we go to the theatre together?

Interrogative Adverbs.

(1) If a sentence begins with an interrogative adverb (pourquoi, où, quand, comment, etc.), the rest of the sentence follows the regular order used in asking a question in French (Lesson 5).

Pourquoi votre frère est-il si malheureux ?

Why is your brother so unhappy ?

Quand ma mère est-elle partie ? When did my mother leave ?

A quelle heure la vôtre est-elle arrivée chez elle ?

At what time did yours get home ?

(2) An interrogative lequel, laquelle, etc., in the objective case, requires the same order.

Lesquels de ses chiens votre frère a-t-il perdus ?

Which (ones) of his dogs has your brother lost ?

(3) After où with the verb in a simple tense, the subject is not usually repeated in the form of a pronoun.

Où est l'église dont vous parliez tout à l'heure ?

Where is the church of which you were just now speaking ?

Où demeurent vos amis ? Where do your friends live ?

But Où vos amis sont-ils allés ? or, Vos amis où sont-ils allés ?

Composite Subject.

When a verb has two or more subjects of different grammatical persons, they are usually summed up by nous or vous, with which the verb agrees.¹

Ma mère et moi, nous sommes allés chez vous.

My mother and I went to your house.

Mon frère et vous, vous êtes partis à cinq heures précises.

My brother and you started at exactly five o'clock.

Lui et moi, nous le verrons demain.

He and I shall see him to-morrow.

¹ If the nous or vous is omitted, the verb agrees with whichever pronoun is understood.

Monsieur, Madame, Mademoiselle.

As a mark of respect, the words monsieur, madame, mademoiselle, or their plurals, are placed before the adjective votre or vos followed by père, mère, frère, sœur, oncle, cousin, ami, etc., or their plurals.

J'ai rencontré monsieur votre père et madame votre mère.

I met your father and mother.

Comment se porte mademoiselle votre sœur ?

How is your sister ?

We shall go nowhere to-day, but to-morrow we shall go to the country.

PERSONAL PRONOUNS.

(1) There are two classes of personal pronouns, disjunctive and conjunctive.

Disjunctive Pronouns.

moi, I, me.
toi, thou, thee.
lui, he, him.
elle, she, her.

nous, we, us.
vous, you.
eux, they, them (m.).
elles, they, them (f.).

moi-même, myself.	nous-mêmes, ourselves.
toi-même, thyself.	vous-mêmes, yourselves.
lui-même, himself.	eux-mêmes, themselves (m.).
elle-même, herself.	elles-mêmes, themselves (f.).

Also, vous-même, yourself.

(2) A disjunctive pronoun is used:—

- (a) With a preposition: chez lui, at his house. (Lesson 26.)
- (b) Alone: Qui va là? Moi. Who goes there? I. (Lesson 45.)
- (c) Predicate nominative: C'est lui, it is he. Ce sont eux, it is they. (Lesson 45.)
- (d) For emphasis: Moi, je le ferai, I shall do it. Nous le ferons nous-mêmes, we shall do it ourselves. (See Lesson 64.)
- (e) When separated from the verb by a word (other than ne or a conjunctive pronoun): Lui seul l'a fait, he alone has done it. Je n'aime que lui, I love no one but him. Nous sommes plus riches qu'eux, we are richer than they.

Conjunctive Pronouns.

(3) A conjunctive pronoun is used as subject, direct object, or indirect object of a verb expressed. (If the verb is understood, a disjunctive pronoun must be used, as in (2), b above.)

SUBJECT.	DIRECT OBJECT.	INDIRECT OBJECT.
(NOMINATIVE)	(ACCUSATIVE)	(DATIVE)
je, I.	me, me.	me, to me.
tu, thou.	te, thee.	te, to thee.
il, he.	le, him, it.	lui, to him.
elle, she.	la, her, it.	lui, to her.
nous, we.	nous, us.	nous, to us.
vous, you.	vous, you.	vous, to you.
ils, they (m.).	les, them (m.).	leur, to them (m.).
elles, they (f.).	les, them (f.).	leur, to them (f.).

(4) Se, himself, herself, itself, one's self, themselves, a reflexive pronoun, is either singular or plural, direct or indirect object, according to the construction of the sentence. To prevent confusion, examples of its use will not be given until Lesson 65 is reached. It must not be confused with the disjunctives, lui-même and eux-mêmes. For the form soi, see Lesson 96.

(5) A personal pronoun used as the direct or indirect object of a verb always precedes the verb, except in the imperative affirmative.

Il me prête un dollar, he lends me a dollar.

Prêtez-moi¹ encore un dollar, lend me another dollar.

Ne lui prêtez rien, don't lend him anything.

Répondez-vous à votre ami, do you answer your friend?

Je lui réponds toujours, I always answer him.

contre, against.

refuser, to refuse.

quant à, as for.

Si vous ne le trouvez pas beau, je le garderai pour moi-même ou je

¹ The disjunctives moi and toi are used for me and te in the imperative affirmative.

le donnerai à votre frère. 8. Je suis sûr qu'il l'admira et qu'il l'acceptera avec grand plaisir. 9. Est-ce pour moi ou pour vous-même que vous travaillez ? 10. C'est pour moi-même. 11. Qui avez-vous vu aujourd'hui ? 12. Lui. 13. Selon eux, nous ne réussirons pas. 14. Je lui ai donné plusieurs journaux français. 15. Les a-t-elle envoyés à son amie ? 16. Est-ce que vous m'apportez des lettres ou des livres ? 17. Il leur a demandé de l'argent, mais ils ne lui ont rien donné. 18. Quant à elle, je ne l'aime pas. 19. Sans lui, je ne leur aurais jamais écrit cette sotte lettre.

For Oral Drill. — 1. I see you. 2. Do you see me ? 3. I am not looking at him, I am looking at them. 4. Is he looking at us ? 5. At whom are you looking ? 6. Don't look at me. 7. Look at her. 8. So do I (I too). 22. Is it you who have bought a new house? 23. It is n't I, it is he.

Personal Pronouns: two Objects.

(1) When two personal pronoun objects stand before the verb, the first and second persons precede the third; when both are third person, the direct object precedes the indirect.

Je vous le donne, I give it to you.

Il me le donne, he gives it to me.

Je le lui donne, I give it to him.

Je ne vous le donne pas, I do not give it to you.

Je ne vous l'ai pas donné, I did not give it to you.

Ne me le donnez-vous pas, do you not give it to me?

Ne me l'avez-vous pas donné, did you not give it to me?

(2) When two personal pronouns stand after the verb (imperative affirmative), the direct object precedes the indirect.

Donnez-le-moi, give it to me.

Donnez-les-nous, give them to us.

Donnez-la-leur, give it to them.

Observe that in the imperative negative, the pronouns precede the verb.

Ne me le donnez pas, don't give it to me.

Ne le lui donnez pas, don't give it to him (to her).

Briefly: Direct and indirect object pronouns precede the verb, except in the imperative affirmative. Before the verb, the order is 1st, 2d, 3d person; if both pronouns are 3d person, the order is direct, indirect. In the imperative affirmative (pronouns after the verb), the order is always direct, indirect.

un article, an article.

Personal Pronouns (Continued).

(1) Le (so or it). In English, I am, we are, etc., may be used alone in answer to a question; the French use le, la, or les with the verb, to represent the complement of the verb to be.

(a) If the complement understood is a noun (or an adjective used as a noun, as le or la malade, the patient), use le, la, les, according to the gender and number of the noun represented.

Etes-vous la fille de ce monsieur ? Are you this gentleman's daughter ?

Oui, je la suis. Yes, I am.

Etes-vous les fils de M. Cadieux ? Are you the sons of Mr. Cadieux ?

Non, monsieur, nous ne les sommes pas. No, sir, we are not.

(b) If the complement understood is an adjective (or a noun used as an adjective), le alone is used.

Etes-vous contentes, mesdames ? Are you pleased, ladies ?

Nous le sommes. We are.

Etes-vous gouvernante ? Are you a governess ?

Je le suis. I am.

Observe this adjective use of a noun without an article to state a person's position or profession :

Mon père est médecin, my father is a doctor.

Le vôtre est avocat, yours is a lawyer.

(2) The dative case to him is distinguished from to her by the use of the disjunctive pronoun with à. The same is true of to them, masculine and feminine.

C'est à lui que je le donne, non pas à elle, I give it to him, not to her.

(3) The disjunctive pronoun is used instead of the conjunctive, when the verb has two direct or two indirect object pronouns.

J'ai rencontré lui et elle, or Je les ai rencontrés, lui et elle, } I met him and her.

Je parlerai à lui et à elle, I will speak to him and to her.

le beau-frère, the brother-in-law. la couturière, the dress-maker.

Pronominal Verbs: reflexive use.

Pronominal or reflexive verbs are conjugated with two pronouns of the same person, one the subject, and the other the direct or indirect object. Any transitive verb may be conjugated reflexively.

Reflexive verbs follow the conjugations to which they belong, and the pronouns are placed according to the rules already given for the position of personal pronouns (Lesson 62). Se always precedes the other pronouns of the third person.

FIRST CONJUGATION.

se cacher, to hide one's self.

PRESENT INDIC. je me cache, I hide myself.

tu te caches.

elle }

nous nous cachons.

vous vous cachez.

Pronominal Verbs: reciprocal use.

(1) Some pronominal verbs may be used in the plural either reflexively or reciprocally.

Nous nous flattons, we flatter ourselves or each other.

Ils se défendent, they defend themselves or each other.

Elles se blessent, they wound themselves or each other.

(2) When the verb is used in a reciprocal sense, ambiguity is prevented by the use of l'un l'autre,¹ if the verb has two subjects; by les uns les autres, if there are more than two subjects.

Nous nous flattons l'un l'autre, we flatter each other (two persons).

Ils se défendent les uns les autres, they defend one another (more than two persons).

Elles se blessent l'une l'autre, they wound each other (two persons).

But in ils se séparent, they part, ils se querellent, they quarrel, ils s'embrassent, they kiss each other, there is no ambiguity, and l'un l'autre, etc., are not needed.

assurer, to assure.

se défendre, to defend one's self or each other.

attaquer, to attack.

se séparer, to part.

blessar, to wound.

se quereller, to quarrel.

tuer, to kill.

embrasser, to embrace, to kiss.

1. Je pense que vous vous flattez toujours l'un l'autre.
2. Au contraire, votre frère et votre sœur se querellent souvent. 3. C'est vrai, ils se grondent quelquefois; ils ne s'aiment pas trop. 4. Si quelqu'un vous attaque quand vous serez absent, je vous défendrai; et, si quelqu'un m'attaque quand je serai absent, vous me défendrez. 5. J'accepte votre offre avec bien du plaisir. 6. Vous le ferez, n'est-ce pas ? 7. Je ne l'oublierai pas, je vous assure. 8. Nous nous défendrons ainsi l'un l'autre. 9. Si vous vous séparez dans le bois et si vous perdez votre chemin, nous vous chercherons l'un et l'autre. 10. On me dit que les sœurs ne se querellent jamais. 11. Quelle histoire ! vous vous trompez, je vous assure. 12. Celles-ci se querellent souvent, mais elles finissent par s'embrasser. 13. Vos parents se portent-ils bien ? 14. Toujours bien, merci. 15. Ne vous blessez pas l'une l'autre. 16. Ces messieurs se blâment les uns les autres.

For Oral Drill. — 1. They (f.) admire themselves. 2. They (f.) admire each other (two persons). 3. They admire one another (more than two persons). 4. Are you amusing yourselves ? 5. Are you amusing each other ? 6. Part. 7. Let us not part. 8. Do you blame us ? 9. Do you blame yourselves ? 10. Do you blame each other ? 11. Do not blame us. 12. Do not blame each other. 13. They are fond of her. 14. They are fond of each other.

1. We never blame ourselves, I assure you. 2. You know, I suppose, that we always blame each other. 3. These two friends are quarrelling, are they not ? 4. Will they not wound each other ? 5. Will they kill each other ? 6. If this man killed his friend, he would kill himself too, I think. 7. Why do you not like each other ? 8. Who told you that we did (do) not like each other ? 9. Nobody ; but you are always scolding each other. 10. We are not quarrelling. 11. These two brothers quarrel sometimes, it is true, but in spite of that (cela) they are very fond of each other. 12. We always defend one another. 13. Yes, but when you are together you always quarrel. 14. If we lose our way in this wood, we will not separate. 15. If any one attacks us, we will defend ourselves. 16. Who will attack us? 17. I will defend myself and you will also defend yourself. 18. We will defend each other. 19. You forget that I am no longer the young man you saw five years ago. 20. You are mistaken, I do not forget it. 21. Were you and your brother looking for each other this morning?

Compound Tenses.

(1) The compound or perfect tenses of a verb are formed by combining its past participle with the various tenses of an auxiliary verb. All transitive and most intransitive verbs form their compound tenses with the auxiliary verb avoir. For intransitive verbs conjugated with être, refer to the list given in Lesson 25.¹

donner, to give	COMPOUND TENSES.	retourner, to go back. ²
j'ai donné, . I have given.	PAST INDEFINITE	je suis retourné, I have gone back.
j'avais donné, I had given.	PLUPERFECT INDIC.	j'étais retourné, I had gone back.
j'aurai donné, I shall have given.	FUTURE PERFECT	je serai retourné, I shall have gone back.
j'aurais donné, I should have given.	CONDITIONAL PERFECT	je serais retourné, I should have gone back.

² Three French verbs may be translated return in English: rendre, to give back, revenir, to come back, retourner, to go back.

(2) Reflexive and reciprocal verbs are always conjugated with être.

Se défendre, to defend one's self.

PAST INDEFINITE.

je me suis défendu, I have defended tu t'es défendu. [myself.]

il s'est défendu.

elle s'est défendue.

nous nous sommes défendus.

vous vous êtes défendus.¹

ils se sont défendus.

PLUPERFECT.

je m'étais défendu,

I had defended myself.

FUTURE PERFECT.

je me serai défendu,

I shall have defended myself.

CONDITIONAL PERFECT.

je me serais défendu,

I should have defended myself.

(3) With reflexive and reciprocal verbs, être takes the place of avoir, and, therefore, the past participle agrees with the preceding direct object (Lesson 30).

Ils se sont aimés, they loved each other.

Ils se sont écrit une lettre, they have written a letter to each other.

Les lettres qu'ils se sont écrites, the letters they have written each other.

Ma sœur s'est coupée, my sister has cut herself.

Ma sœur s'est coupé² le doigt, my sister has cut her finger (literally, the finger for herself).

Observe that in the first, third, and fourth of these examples the past participle agrees with the preceding direct object. In the second and fifth, however, the direct object does not precede the verb, the reflexive pronoun being in the dative case.

se coucher, to go to bed.

se promener, to take a walk or a ride.

s'enrhumer,³ to take cold.

fâcher, to vex.

se fâcher, to get angry.

adresser, to address.

commencer, to begin.

grandir, to grow tall, to grow up.

simplement, simply.

sitôt, so soon.

² Compare: Ma sœur s'est cassé le bras, ma sœur a le bras cassé, and ma sœur m'a cassé le bras.

³ s'enrhumer, to catch cold; être enrhumé or avoir un rhume, to have a cold.

1. A quelle heure vous êtes-vous couché hier soir ? 2. Je me suis couché à dix heures et demie. 3. A quelle heure votre frère s'est-il levé ce matin ? 4. Il s'est levé à sept heures moins un quart. 5. Votre sœur s'est-elle promenée aujourd'hui ? 6. Elle s'est promenée une demi-heure. 7. Elle s'est un peu enrhumée hier soir ; c'est pourquoi elle ne se porte pas mieux aujourd'hui. 8. Elles se sont adressées à nous. 9. Elles se sont adressé des lettres. 10. Nous avons vu les lettres qu'elles se sont adressées. 11. Est-ce que vos cousins se sont fâchés lorsque vous leur avez raconté l'affaire ? 12. Henri m'a dit simplement que je me trompais, mais Louise s'est fâchée tout de suite. 13. Est-ce que vous ne vous seriez pas fâché, si j'avais fait cela ? 14. Nous nous sommes promenés si longtemps ce matin que ma sœur était fort lasse. 15. Mais ne vous êtes-vous reposés nulle part ? 16. Si nous étions restés chez nous hier soir, nous ne nous serions pas enrhumés.

For Oral Drill. — 1. I am amusing them. 2. I am enjoying myself. 3. I have amused them. 4. I have enjoyed myself. 5. I used to enjoy myself. 6. I had enjoyed myself. 7. I shall enjoy myself. 8. I should have amused her. 9. I should have enjoyed myself.

Repeat these sentences, making them negative, interrogative, or negative-interrogative, and changing the person and gender of the subject pronouns to third person singular feminine, first person plural masculine, etc.

1. I got up at eight this morning. 2. At what time did you get up ? 3. We got up at half-past nine. 4. What a lazy man ! 5. I was not well. 6. What was the matter with you ? 7. I caught cold two or three days ago, and I had the tooth-ache this morning. 8. Go

When she has rested a little longer, perhaps another half-hour, you will tell her that we are ready. 13. Where are the letters you sent each other? 14. We have given them back to each other. 15. Would you have gone to bed so soon, if it had n't been so cold? 16. Have they been out this evening? 17. Yes, sir, they went out with their father at a quarter before eight; they walked until quarter past nine, when (and then) they returned. 18. They enjoyed themselves greatly (much), and I think he did also (he also, I think). 19. Go back home now; and when you are here to-morrow, we will finish together what we began yesterday.

En and Y.

(1) En and y, although used frequently as adverbs, are pronouns. En = de and a noun or pronoun. Y = à and a noun or pronoun.

For the use of en (of it, of them, some, any) with words of quantity, numerals, etc., recall Lesson 37.

Avez-vous des crayons, have you pencils?

Oui, j'en ai, yes, I have.

Il n'en a pas, he has n't any.

Elle en a un, she has one.

Apportez-en, bring some.

(2) Y (to it, to them, there) is rarely used in reference to persons.

Pensez-vous à vos leçons, are you thinking of your lessons?

J'y pense, I am thinking of them.

Pensez-y, think of them.

Pensez-vous à vos amis, are you thinking of your friends?

Je pense à eux, I am thinking of them.

(3) There (expressed or understood in English) is expressed by y in referring to a place already mentioned, and by là in pointing out a place or thing.

Regardez cette maison-là, look at that house.

J'y ai demeuré trois mois, I lived there three months.

C'est là que vous trouverez ce que vous cherchez.

That is where you will find what you are looking for.

Position of y and en.

(4) Y and en follow the other pronouns. Y precedes en.

Je vous les y porterai, I shall carry them to you there.

Je vous y en porterai, I shall carry you some there.

Il y en a beaucoup, there are many of them.

(5) A past participle does not agree with a preceding en.¹

Je n'en ai pas vu, I have n't seen any.

(6) In the imperative affirmative, y and en are joined to the verb, to other pronouns, and to each other.

Prêtez-nous-en, lend us some.

Donnez-m'en,² give me some.

car (conjunction), for. de tout mon cœur, with all my heart.

au moins, at least. quelques-uns, quelques-unes, a few, some.

remercier quelqu'un de quelque chose, to thank somebody for something.

1. Avez-vous de l'eau fraîche ? 2. Oui, nous en avons.
3. Donnez-en un verre à votre frère. 4. Vous parlez toujours de mes affaires ; pourquoi vous en mêlez-vous ?
5. Vous vous trompez, je vous assure, si vous pensez que je m'en mêle. 6. N'êtes-vous jamais entré dans cette

¹ If en is used with an adverb of quantity which precedes the verb, agreement takes place: Combien en a-t-on vus ?

The Definite Article (Continued).

(1) The definite article is frequently used instead of the possessive adjective, when there is no possibility of a misunderstanding (Lesson 59).

Il a levé les mains, he raised his hands.

Elle s'est cassé le doigt, she broke her finger.

Elle a le doigt cassé, she has a broken finger.

Il m'a saisi le bras, he seized my arm.

(2) The definite article is used instead of a possessive adjective in expressions like the following:

Elle est debout, le livre à la main, she is standing with the book in her hand.

Il est parti, le chapeau sous le bras, he left with his hat under his arm

(3) It is used for a or an before nouns of weight, measure, or number; but par is used for a or an before time.

Le miel coûte quinze sous la livre, honey costs fifteen cents a pound.
Ce drap coûte un franc le mètre, this cloth costs one franc per metre.
Les crayons coûtent dix sous la douzaine, pencils cost ten cents a dozen.

But

Il gagne six francs par jour, he earns six francs per day.
Il mérite deux mille francs par an, he deserves two thousand francs a year.

(a) A similar use is that with the days of the week to express a regular occurrence.

Le dimanche est le premier jour de la semaine.
Que faites-vous le samedi?

But Oh serez-vous samedi prochain?

(4) It is also used with titles, professions, and before a proper noun preceded by an adjective (except in direct address), or after monsieur, madame, or mademoiselle.

Le président Carnot a été assassiné en 1894, President Carnot was assassinated in 1894.
Bonjour, docteur, good-day, doctor.
Bon soir, monsieur le comte, good evening, count.
Le petit Henri est malade, little Henry is ill.

(5) Likewise, before adjectives used as nouns.

Aimez-vous mieux le bleu que le jaune, do you prefer blue to yellow?
Avez-vous appris l'espagnol, have you learned Spanish?
Sait-il l'italien, does he know Italian?

With the verb parler, the article is usually omitted before the unmodified name of a language, and it is always omitted after en.

Parle-t-il bien anglais, does he speak English well?
Il s'exprime bien en italien, he expresses himself well in Italian.

(6) Regularly in the partitive article : *du, de la, de l', des*¹ (Lesson 38).

Voici des livres ; en voulez-vous, here are books, will you have some ?

Exceptions (de only):

(a) In expressions denoting quantity, measure, and material (Lessons 34, 35, 36).

Combien de paires de gants, how many pairs of gloves ?

Une table de bois, a wooden table.

(b) After negative verbs (Lesson 40).

Il n'y a pas d'argent, there is n't any money.

(c) Adjective before the noun (Lesson 41).

Donnez-nous de meilleur pain, give us better bread.

But Avez-vous du pain noir, have you any black bread ?

(d) After a verb, an adjective, or any expression, followed by de.

Se nourrir de noix, to live (feed) on nuts ; Être fatigué de livres, to be tired of books ; avoir besoin d'amis, to need friends.

The Indefinite Article.

(1) With an unmodified predicate noun, denoting a profession, a trade, or a nationality, un or une is omitted.

Son père est médecin ; le mien est avocat, his father is a doctor ; mine is a lawyer.

Elle est Française,² she is a French woman.

Exception :

After voici, voilà, c'est, or ce sont.

Voici un médecin, here is a doctor.

C'est une Allemande, she is (that is) a German woman.

² Notice again use of capitals with adjectives of nationality used as proper nouns.

How Long?

(1) An action or state which began some time ago and is still going on, is expressed in French by the present tense. In such cases, how long = depuis quand (literally, since when).

Depuis quand êtes-vous ici, how long have you been here?

Je suis ici depuis trois mois, I have been here three months.

Depuis quand travaille-t-elle, how long has she been working?

Elle travaille depuis une demi-heure, she has been working a half hour.

(a) These ideas may also be expressed by another idiom:

Combien (de temps) y a-t-il que vous êtes ici?

Il y a trois mois que je suis ici.

Combien y a-t-il (de temps) qu'elle travaille?

Il y a une demi-heure qu'elle travaille.

(2) If the action or state is entirely past, how long = combien de temps with the past indefinite (perfect).

Combien de temps êtes-vous resté ici, how long did you stay here?

Je suis resté ici (pendant) trois mois, I stayed here three months.

Combien de temps a-t-elle travaillé, how long did she work?

Elle a travaillé une demi-heure, she worked half an hour.

Combien de temps may not be used with the simple imperfect to denote length of time.

Pendant expresses the whole duration of an action or state from beginning to end. In this sense it may generally be omitted. Compare with depuis quand, which denotes action still going on.

(3) If the action or state is future, how long = combien de temps with the future tense.

Combien de temps serez-vous ici, how long shall you be here?

Je serai ici trois mois, I shall be here three months.

Combien de temps travaillera-t-elle, how long will she work?

Elle travaillera une demi-heure, she will work half an hour.

ensuite, afterwards, next.

Using the above paradigms as models, learn to conjugate the past definite of any regular verb; also, of the irregular verbs already given: aller, j'allai, tu allas, etc.; faire, je fis, etc.; dire, je dis, etc.; savoir, je sus, etc.; voir, je vis, etc. Observe that the only change of vowel occurs in the third person plural of the first conjugation.

Use of Past Tenses.

(1) We have seen (Lessons 10 and 67) that the conversational past tense, denoting what happened, is the past indefinite (perfect).

(2) We have also seen (Lesson 42) that the imperfect is used to express a customary or continued past action, or a description of the state of things when something took place or while it was taking place; also with si in conditional clauses (Lesson 60).

(3) The past definite is used only in a formal narrative¹ or historical style to denote an action or state which was definitely completed in past time.

Study carefully the following examples :

J'ai vu votre cousine il y a quelques jours, I saw your cousin a few days ago.

Où était-elle ? Elle était chez elle.

Where was she ? She was at home.

Etes-vous allé la voir ? did you go and see her ?

Quand j'étais à Paris, j'allais souvent à l'opéra.

When I was in Paris, I often went (used to go) to the opera.

Le prince Edouard dans cette bataille ne perdit pas soixante hommes.

Prince Edward in that battle did not lose sixty men.

The ancient Egyptians embalmed the dead, the Greeks and Romans burned them.

On embauma le corps d'Alexandre et on le transporta en Egypte.

They embalmed the body of Alexander and carried it to Egypt.

le libraire, the book-seller.

le paysan, the peasant, countryman.

l'ennemi (m.), the enemy.

louer, to praise.

la bataille, the battle.

couronner, to crown.

une épée, a sword.

s'écrier, to exclaim, to cry out.

1. Le roi donna dix louis au paysan et lui pardonna sa faute. 2. Un officier blessé fut transporté chez lui, où deux médecins furent appelés. 3. On demanda à un petit garçon, pourquoi il désirait du sel ; c'est, répondit-il, pour la viande qu'on me donnera. 4. Aussitôt qu'il eut fini son travail, il partit pour la campagne. 5. Il me demanda pardon et m'assura qu'il me donnerait

¹ The past anterior (compound of the past definite) expresses an action immediately prior to that expressed by the past definite. It is used only after quand, aussitôt que, à peine, etc.

Après qu'il eut parlé, il s'assit, after he had spoken, he sat down.

À peine fut-il arrivé que midi sonna, he had scarcely arrived when it struck twelve.

tout ce que je désirais. 6. La reine lui donna de beaux bijoux; ils étaient dans une boîte d'or. 7. Quand nous étions jeunes, je travaillais pendant que ma sœur jouait. 8. My father says that he used to forget everything when he was at school. 7. Now he never forgets anything. 8. Who won the battle, the English or the French? 9. Napoleon lost the battle of Waterloo.* 10. Was he not a great general in spite of that? 11. At last the general perceived the enemy. 12. He perceived that the soldiers were not far from the city which he was defending. 13. What did he do? 14. He seized his sword and cried, "Let us receive them well!" 15. What happened then? 16. His men obeyed him immediately and defended the city. 17. The king praised the general and gave him a magnificent sword.

The names, descriptive past, given to the imperfect, and the narrative past, given to the past definite, in the Grandgent grammars, are highly suggestive of the proper use of these tenses.

Peculiarities in Verbs of the First Conjugation.

All the verbs of the first conjugation but two (aller, to go, and envoyer, to send) are regular, and consequently are conjugated like donner. A few present some peculiarities caused by changes made for the sake of pronunciation. These verbs are: —

1st. Those having an e mute before their last syllable, such as mener, lever, appeler, jeter.

2d. Those having an é before their last syllable, as celebrer, préférer, espérer.

3d. Those ending in -yer.

4th. Those ending in -cer or -ger. } See Lesson 75.

E mute before a Final Syllable.

Verbs of the first conjugation having an e mute in the syllable next before the ending of the infinitive change that e mute to è, when, in the course of the conjugation, the syllable following contains e mute.

lever, to lift.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

je lève.
tu lèves.

Acheter, to buy, geler, to freeze, and a few other verbs follow the rule for lever, instead of doubling l or t:

j'achète, tu achètes, il achète, nous achetons, etc. ; j'achèterai, etc.
je gèle, tu gèles, il gèle, nous gelons, etc. ; je gèlerai, etc.

É before a Final Syllable.

All verbs of the first conjugation having an é in the syllable next before the ending of the infinitive change that é into è, when the following syllable contains e mute, except in the future and in the conditional.

célébrer, to celebrate.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

je célèbre.

il célèbre.

Verbs ending in -cer or -ger.

In a verb ending in -cer or -ger, c or g, being soft in the infinitive, must be kept soft throughout the verb. When, therefore, in any tense, c or g would be followed by a or o, a cedilla is placed under the c and a silent e¹ is placed after the g, to keep them soft.

placer, to place; plaçant, placing; nous plaçons, we place.

manger, to eat; mangeant, eating; nous mangeons, we eat.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE MODE.

General Statement of its Use.

(1) The subjunctive mode is rarely used in a principal clause.¹ It is used in a subordinate clause, when the principal clause implies necessity, uncertainty, or emotion.

Il faut qu'elle soit punie.

It is necessary that she should be punished, or she must be punished.²

Je ne crois pas qu'il ait vu son fils, I do not think he has seen his son.

J'ai peur qu'elle ne soit morte, I am afraid she is dead.

(2) If, however, the thought expressed in the principal clause implies certainty or probability, the verb in the subordinate clause is in the indicative. Compare:

Je pense que la santé est préférable à tous les biens.

I think health is preferable to all riches.

Je ne pense pas que la santé soit préférable à tous les biens.

I do not think health is preferable to all riches.

Observe that the conjunction que, by which a subjunctive is generally introduced, itself governs no mode. It is the thought contained in the verb of the principal clause that determines the mode used in the subordinate clause.

avoir		être
que j'aie.	que nous ayons.	que je sois.	que nous soyons.
que tu aies.	que vous ayez.	que tu sois.	que vous soyez.
qu'il ait.	qu'ils aient.	qu'il soit.	qu'ils soient.

IMPERATIVE.

aie, have.	ayons, let us have.	sois, be.	soyons, let us be.

Impersonal Verbs.

Impersonal verbs that do not imply certainty or probability are followed by the subjunctive.

SUBJUNCTIVE.		INDICATIVE.
il semble, it seems.		il me (lui, nous, etc.) semble, it seems to me (to him, to us, etc.).

il est temps, it is time. il est heureux, it is fortunate.

Il semble, it seems, is also frequently followed by the indicative. This is the case when there is no doubt in the mind of the speaker.

1. Il faut que mon frère ait ce livre aujourd'hui. 2. Il est urgent qu'il l'ait. 3. Il me semble que vous avez eu tort dans cette discussion; est-ce qu'on parle ainsi à sa sœur? 4. J'ai eu tort, c'est vrai, mais il est certain qu'elle m'a beaucoup dérangé. 5. Il paraît que sa mère est malade depuis quinze jours. 6. Je leur ai sacrifié mon temps et mes ambitions; faut-il encore qu'ils aient tout mon argent? 7. Se peut-il que M. votre cousin soit encore ici après cette affaire dont vous me parliez hier ? 8. Il est essentiel que j'aie de l'argent avant huit heures ; envoyez-le-moi. 9. Est-il indispensable que madame votre mère ait cette lettre cette semaine ? 10. Oui, mademoiselle, c'est urgent ; il faut qu'elle ait tous les détails de l'affaire avant son départ. 11. Il est clair que vous avez sommeil ; couchez-vous vite. 12. Il est vrai que je suis fatigué car j'ai beaucoup marché aujourd'hui, et il est possible que j'aie sommeil. 13. Il est décidé qu'on ne donnera pas à votre ami la permission qu'il demandait. 14. Il se peut qu'elle ait acheté une nouvelle maison. 15. Il est probable qu'elle demeurera tout près de nous.

1. Is it possible that I am wrong ? 2. It is possible that you are wrong, but it is probable that you are right. 3. Is it right that he should be punished ? 4. Yes, it is (c'est) right ; he has disobeyed his father and refused his sister everything she has asked him for. 5. It is right, then, that he be punished. 6. It may be that your sister and her friend have already arrived. 7. I must have some paper, ink, and pens at once. 8. My father has been travelling for some time, and it is possible that he is now in Paris. 9. It is time that I should have news of him (some of his news). 10. She must have her new dress to-night. 11. It is important for her to have it, but must she have it ? 12. It is certain that she will not have it before to-morrow. 13. Is it possible that they have not brought it ? 14. It is evident that they have left it at home. 15. I think that it is better that they have forgotten it ; I am glad of it. 16. Must you have that money soon ? 17. Must you not have it to-day ?

77Formation of the Present Subjunctive.

There are two methods¹ of obtaining the present subjunctive from the primitive tenses (or principal parts). Neither method is without exceptions, and neither applies to avoir or être.

First Method. Change -ant of the present participle to -e. In regular verbs of the third conjugation, e before v in the stem must be changed to oi.

recevant : que je reçoive.

Second Method. Drop -nt of the third person plural present indicative.² This rule applies to all regular verbs and to about twenty more of the irregular verbs than are covered by the first method, while the present subjunctive of only two verbs, savoir and pleuvoir, may be obtained by the first method and not by the second.

In other words, since the ending of the third person plural, -ent, is silent, when we pronounce the third person plural present indicative of most French verbs, we are also pronouncing the first person singular present subjunctive.

¹ Teachers will state to their pupils which method is to be followed. The other may be entirely ignored.

² In the principal parts, give the first person singular only of the present indicative, the pupil being required to know the tense so well that the third person plural is instantly ready for use in the formation of the present subjunctive.

PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE OF REGULAR VERBS.

TERMINATIONS: -e, -es, -e, -ions, -iez, -ent.

These are also the terminations for all irregular verbs, except avoir and être (Lesson 76).

que je porte.
que tu portes.
qu'il porte.
que nous portions.
que vous portiez.
qu'ils portent.

finir

que je finisse.
qu'il finisse.
que nous finissions.
que vous finissiez.
qu'ils finissent.

recevoir

que je reçoive.
que tu reçoives.
qu'il reçoive.
que nous recevions.
que vous receviez.
qu'ils reçoivent.

vendre

que je vende.
qu'il vende.
que nous vendions.
qu'ils vendent.

Using these four verbs as models, be prepared to conjugate the present subjunctive of any of the regular verbs previously given.

There is no future subjunctive. The present subjunctive is used to express both present and future time.

1. On me dit qu'il est essentiel que vous arriviez à Londres avant le 1er avril. 2. Il est bien important que je finisse, le plus tôt possible, tout ce que j'ai déjà commencé; alors il sera possible que j'y arrive à temps (in time). 3. Vous lui avez désobéi: il est juste qu'on vous punisse. 4. Il est évident que l'on nous attendra. 5. Il me semble qu'il n'est pas certain qu'on nous attende. 6. Il est préférable que vous lui rendiez ce livre vous-même. 7. Il vaut mieux que nous restions ici ce soir

8. Il est temps que vous fermiez vos livres. 9. Il est juste que vous me payiez ce que vous me devez. 10. Est-il possible que je vous doive quelque chose ? 11. Il est certain que vous m'avez emprunté dix francs, il y a plus de six mois. 12. Se peut-il que vous l'oubliiez ? 13. Il faut que nous nous le rappelions, n'est-ce pas ? 14. Il est probable que ma sœur sera ici bientôt. 15. Il importe peu qu'elle soit avec nous. 16. Il vous semble que j'ai tort, mais je vous prouverai le contraire.

1. Is it possible that you relate false stories ? 2. It transpires that the story I was telling is not false. 3. It is fortunate for you that it is true. 4. It seems as if you worked well, but I am not sure. 5. It seems to him that you are his friend. 6. It is possible that you are mine too, but it seems to me that you are not. 7. It has been decided at last that we will give you the first prize. 8. Is it fitting that I should receive it ? 9. That letter must be sent [express two ways] before 1:30. 10. We must begin as soon as she gets here. 11. Children must obey their parents. 12. It is probable that they will not always do it, and their parents must have a great deal of patience. 13. It is urgent that she answer the letter she received a few days ago. 14. It is possible that you are poorer than I, but it seems to me that you are much richer. 15. It is time for you to go to bed ; it is eleven o'clock. 16. At what time must I get here to-morrow morning ? 17. It is evident that you study several hours a day. 18. It is good that you prepare your lessons so well. 19. If my father accepts your invitation, it will be possible for us to be at your house on Saturday next.

Negative and Interrogative Verbs.

(1) Verbs used negatively or interrogatively and implying uncertainty are followed by the subjunctive with the conjunction que; if there is no doubt in the mind of the speaker, the indicative is used.

1. Je crois qu'il est malade, I believe that he is ill.
2. Croyez-vous qu'il soit malade, do you believe that he is ill?
3. Je ne crois pas qu'il soit malade, I do not believe that he is ill.
4. Il n'est pas certain qu'il soit malade, it is not certain that he is ill.
5. Oubliez-vous qu'il est malade, do you forget that he is ill?
6. Saviez-vous qu'il était malade, did you know that he was ill?
7. Ne croyez-vous pas qu'il est malade, do you not believe that he is ill?
8. N'est-ce pas qu'il est malade, is n't he ill?

Remarks on examples given above.

1. I do not know that he is ill, but I do not doubt it.
2. I am asking for information because I am in doubt, hence the subjunctive. If, however, I believed that he was ill and if I were merely trying to find out if you also believed it, the indicative would be used. Croyez-vous que je suis malade? Il ne croit pas que je suis ici. Croyez-vous que je ferai cela? In these three examples there is no doubt in the mind of the speaker.
3. I do not believe he is ill — doubt of the strongest kind.
4. Impersonal verbs implying certainty or probability when used negatively or interrogatively imply doubt and require the subjunctive. Il ne me semble pas qu'il soit malade, but ne vous semble-t-il pas qu'il est malade? See 7 and 8.
- 5 and 6. I have no doubt as to his being ill.
- 7 and 8. A negative-interrogative calls for an affirmative answer. Ne dites-vous pas qu'il a tort? Ne trouvez-vous pas que cette petite fille est gentille?

(2) The subjunctive is not used after est-ce que? nor generally after such verbs as savoir, to know, faire savoir, to let know, dire, to tell, apprendre, to learn, to hear, to inform, informer, to inform, when they are used interrogatively or negatively, if there is no doubt in the mind of the speaker.

The verb espérer takes the subjunctive only when used negatively or interrogatively.

Croire (irregular), to believe, to think.

je veux, *I wish, want, command.*je veux bien, *I am willing, consent.*je voudrais or je voudrais bien, I should like.

CONDITIONAL.

je voudrais.

Notice the difference in meaning between the present indicative and the conditional of the verb vouloir.

Il veut le faire, he wishes (wills, means) to do it.

Il voudrait le faire, he would like to do it.

Je veux être à Paris avant le 1^{er} mai, I wish (intend) to be in Paris before the first of May.

Je voudrais y être maintenant, I should like to be there now, or I wish I were there now.

(2) In French, the subjunctive is always used after verbs expressing wish or will, except only when both verbs (that is, the verb expressing wish or will and the verb depending on it) have the same person or persons for subjects; in which case the second verb is put in the infinitive.

Je veux que vous restiez ici, I wish you to stay here.

Il veut rester ici, he wishes to stay here.

Ne and the Subjunctive.

The following verbs meaning to fear, craindre, avoir peur, and trembler, and the two verbs prendre garde (to take care) and empêcher (to prevent, to keep from) not only are followed by the subjunctive, but they also require ne before it. (See page 205.)

J'ai peur qu'il ne réussisse, I fear that he will succeed.

Empêchez qu'il ne réussisse, prevent his succeeding.

But note that, after verbs of fearing used negatively or interrogatively, ne is omitted.

Craignez-vous qu'il soit venu, are you afraid that he has come?

Je crains qu'il ne soit venu, I am afraid that he has come.

Je crains qu'il ne soit pas venu, I am afraid that he has not come.

Je ne crains pas qu'il soit venu, I am not afraid that he has come.

Present Subjunctive in Subordinate Clauses.

The most common uses of the present subjunctive in subordinate clauses may be seen from the following summary : —

Used after :	Exceptions.
Impersonal verbs,	Fact and probability.
Negative verbs,	No doubt in the mind of the speaker.
Interrogative verbs,
Verbs of emotion, etc.	Espérer (affirmative).
Superlatives,	Followed by a genitive.
Certain relatives,	No doubt or purpose implied.
Certain conjunctions.

Present Subjunctive of Irregular Verbs Already Used.

For rules for determining the present subjunctive of a verb, see Lesson 77.

dire	voir	aller	vouloir
que je dise.	que je voie.	que j'aille.	que je veuille.
que tu dises.	voies.	ailles.	veuilles.
qu'il dise.	voie.	aille.	veuille.
que nous disions.	voyions.	allions.	voulions.
que vous disiez.	voyiez.	alliez.	vouliez.
qu'ils disent.	voient.	aillent.	veussent.

The present subjunctives of faire, savoir, craindre, and connaître are conjugated without change of stem: que je fasse, que je sache, que je craigne, que je connaisse. In envoyer and croire the same changes occur as in voir: que j'envoie, que je croie.

Distinction between savoir and connaître.

Savoir means to know through the mind, to realize, to have learned, to know that something is so, to know how to. It never has a person for its object and may be followed by a conjunction or a verb.

Savez-vous votre leçon, do you know your lesson?

Combien de langues sait-il, how many languages does he know?

Je sais qu'elle est ici, I know that she is here.

Il sait lire et écrire, he knows how to read and write.

Connaître means to be acquainted with, to know by sight or by the other senses, to recognize. It may have a person or thing for its object, but can never be followed by a conjunction or a verb.

Nous connaissons de vue ce monsieur, we know that gentleman by sight.

Connaissez-vous les œuvres de Lamartine, do you know Lamartine's works?

Je connais le dictionnaire de Littré, I know Littré's dictionary.

1. Il n'est pas absolument nécessaire que j'y aille, mais il est préférable dans mon intérêt, et peut-être, aussi dans le vôtre, que je sois présent à la discussion. 2. Adieu, mon ami; je souhaite que vous soyez toujours heureux. 3. Merci; j'espère que vous le serez aussi. 4. On me dit que votre cousine, Yvonne, est la jeune fille la plus aimable qu'on ait jamais vue. 5. De toutes mes cousines, c'est certainement Yvonne qui est la plus charmante. 6. Qui que vous soyez, il n'est pas convenable que vous soyez impoli. 7. Bien que vous soyez devenu riche et que vous connaissiez bien du monde, il faut que vous ne soyez pas trop fier, si vous voulez que l'on vous aime. 8. Il importe qu'il sache ce que vous avez fait. 9. Il est temps que vous le lui disiez. 10. Je cherche un homme qui soit digne de grands honneurs. 11. Ne croyez-vous pas que je vous connaisse, Monsieur? 12. Doutez-vous qu'elle sache sa leçon? 13. Il me semble qu'elle l'a bien préparée aujourd'hui. 14. Il paraît que vous vous trompez quelquefois.

1. They do not believe that she knows it. 2. They do know that she is acquainted with us. 3. If you go for a walk with us, you must be ready before ten. 4. I want you to see my friends when you are in Paris next year; they will wish to see you, I am sure. 5. You must send them a note before you call so that you will find them at home. 6. If you do not do it, I am afraid that they will not be there. 7. Is it not probable that they will have come back from the shore before the first of August? 8. Whatever you may say, I shall never believe him to be guilty. 9. Do you think that he knows it? 10. Don't you think I know him better than you do? 11. We wish no one to fear us, but we wish to be obeyed. 12. I hope you believe it. 13. I doubt his sending them any money before we see him. 14. Don't you know that it is not certain you will suc-

The Use of the Tenses of the Subjunctive.

(1) After the present or future in the principal clause or, in conversation, after the conditional, the present of the subjunctive is used; after any other tense, the imperfect subjunctive.

Je veux	} qu'il le fasse.	Je voulais	} qu'il le fît.
Je voudrai		Je voulais ¹
Je voudrais		Je voudrais ¹
		J'ai voulu
		J'avais voulu
		J'aurais voulu

(2) When the subjunctive is in a compound tense, the tense of the auxiliary avoir or être depends on the tense of the verb in the principal clause.

Espérez-vous qu'il l'ait fait ?

Espériez-vous qu'il l'eût fait ?

(3) The imperfect subjunctive is avoided in French whenever possible. If an infinitive construction cannot be substituted, the present subjunctive is used.

Compare :

Il empêchait que nous n'arrivassions à temps.

Il nous empêchait d'arriver à temps.

Je voudrais que vous m'accompagnassiez.

Je voudrais que vous m'accompagniez.

Imperfect Subjunctive.

The imperfect subjunctive of any French verb may be formed by adding -se to the second person singular of the past definite. There are no exceptions to this rule. In all conjugations except the first, the first person singular of the past definite may be used instead of the second.

PAST DEFINITE.		IMPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE.

Subjunctive in Independent Clauses.

(1) The subjunctive in an independent clause usually expresses a wish. Strictly speaking, the following examples consist of subordinate clauses, with the principal clauses suppressed.

Ton règne vienne, ta volonté soit faite, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.

Ainsi soit-il, so let it be!

Vive l'empereur, long live the emperor! Three cheers for the emperor!

Sauve qui peut, let him save himself who can (every man for himself).

Dieu me soit en aide, God help me!

Honi soit qui mal y pense, evil to him that evil thinks.

Plût à Dieu que ce ne fût pas vrai, would to God it were not true!

(2) The third persons singular and plural are used to fill out the paradigm of the imperative.

SINGULAR.

donne, (do thou) give.
qu'il donne, let him give.
Que tout le monde fasse son devoir, let everybody do his duty.

PLURAL.

donnons, let us give.
donnez, give.
qu'ils donnent, let them give.

(3) Observe the use of the present subjunctive of savoir to express a softened assertion :

Je ne sache rien de plus charmant, I know nothing more charming.
Est-il venu quelqu'un pendant mon absence ? Pas que je sache.
Has any one come during my absence ? Not that I know of.
Il se porte bien, autant que je sache, he is well, so far as I know.

Also: Qui vive ? Who goes there ?

Dussé-je mourir, je le ferai, Were I to die, I shall do it.
Soit ! or Qu'il en soit ainsi ! So be it !

(4) The pluperfect subjunctive (j'eusse fait, je fusse allé, etc.) is sometimes used in an elevated style in both parts of a conditional sentence.

Il est vrai, s'il m'eût cru, qu'il n'eût point fait des vers. (Boileau.)
It is true, if he had believed me, he would have made no verses.

Si le sombre empire de Pluton se fût entr'ouvert, je n'aurais pas été saisi, je l'avoue, d'une plus grande horreur. (Fénélon.)

If the dark empire of Pluto had half opened before me, I should not have been seized, I admit, with greater horror.

O Fabricius, qu'eût pensé votre grande âme, si, pour votre malheur, rappelé à la vie, vous eussiez vu la face pompeuse de cette Rome, sauvée par votre bras. (J. J. Rousseau.)

O Fabricius, what would your great soul have thought, if, unhappily for yourself, recalled to life, you had seen the gorgeous appearance of this Rome, saved by your arm !

la lune, the moon.

fâché, sorry, vexed, angry.

216 Subjunctive in Independent Clauses

The king is dead; long live the king! 17. Peace be with you! 18. Is it possible that you do not know your brother's best friends?

87

(1) Que may be used to avoid the repetition of any conjunction. It requires the subjunctive only when it stands for a conjunction that requires the subjunctive, or for si.

Comme je n'ai pas beaucoup d'argent, et que je suis un peu malade, je ne ferai pas ce voyage.

As I have not much money, and as I am not very well, I shall not take that journey.

Venez ici que nous vous grondions, come here, so we may scold you.

S'il vient et que je ne sois pas à la maison, faites venir mon frère.

If he comes and I am not at home, send for my brother.

(2) Ne is required before the following verb when que stands for à moins que, avant que, sans que, jusqu'à ce que, de peur que, and de crainte que (also depuis que and il y a . . . que).

Je ne partirai pas d'ici que vous ne m'ayez tout raconté.

I shall not leave this place till you have told me everything.

Prenez garde (de peur) qu'il ne vous voie, take care lest he see you.

Il y a deux mois que je ne l'ai vu, I have not seen him for two months.

THE INFINITIVE.

An infinitive may be used in the nominative or in the objective case, or it may be used after such prepositions as de, à, par, pour, après, sans, avant de, etc.

The Infinitive without a Preposition.

(1) An infinitive may be the subject or a predicate nominative.

Le voir, c'est l'aimer, to see her is to love her.

A quoi sert tarder, what is the use of delaying?

Promettre et tenir sont deux.

It is easier to promise than to perform.

Il faut parler, it is necessary to speak.

In the last example, parler is the logical subject of il faut.

(2) An infinitive may be the direct object. Of the verbs requiring no preposition,¹ learn the following:

aimer mieux, to like better.

aller, to go.

compter, to intend.

croire, to believe.

désirer, to desire, to wish.

écouter, to listen.

entendre, to hear.

espérer, to hope.

faire, to make.

laisser, to let.

oser, to dare.

pouvoir, to be able.

préférer, to prefer.

prétendre, to pretend.

regarder, to look at.

savoir, to know how.

sembler, to seem.

venir, to come.

voir, to see.

vouloir, to wish.

il faut, it is necessary.

Aller and venir, followed by an infinitive without a preposition, sometimes have the meaning of go and, come and.

Il est allé lui parler, he went and spoke to her.

Elle est venue nous aider, she came and helped us.

Than before an infinitive is expressed by que de.

Il vaut mieux rire que de pleurer, it is better to laugh than to cry.

The Infinitive with Pour.

(3) When the English to means in order to, for the purpose of (especially unfulfilled purpose), it is expressed by pour.

Elle viendra pour nous rendre visite, mais nous serons partis.
She will come to visit us, but we shall be gone.

(4) An infinitive without a preposition is sometimes used as an exclamation, a question, or an imperative.

Que faire, what's to be done?

Note also: Je ne sais que faire, I do not know what to do.

Pouvoir, to be able (can, may).

The Subjunctive and Infinitive Modes Compared.

When the subjunctive mode can be avoided by using the infinitive in the secondary clause, as in the following cases, it should be done, since the frequent use of the subjunctive makes the style heavy.

(1) When two verbs have the same person for subject, the second is generally in the infinitive. See Lesson 79, (2).

Est-ce que vous craignez de lui parler, do you fear to speak to him?
Je voudrais bien être à votre place, I wish I were in your place.

228 The Subjunctive and the Infinitive

(2) If the two clauses have the same person for subject, the conjunction which joins them may often be changed to a preposition, and the verb following will in consequence be in the infinitive.

CONJUNCTION.		PREPOSITION.
afin que,	in order that,	afin de.
pour que,	in order that,	pour.
avant que,	before,	avant de.
sans que,	without,	sans.
à moins que,	unless,	à moins de.
de crainte que,	for fear that, lest,	de crainte de.
de peur que,	for fear that, lest,	de peur de.
jusqu'à ce que,	till, until,	jusque.

Venez me voir avant de lui écrire, come to see me before you write to him.

Il ne sortira pas de peur de vous rencontrer, he will not go out lest he should meet you.

Après is used with the perfect of the infinitive.

Les enfants courent dans le jardin après avoir fini leurs devoirs.
The children run in the garden after finishing their tasks.

(3) Falloir. If the subject of must is a noun, falloir is followed by the subjunctive; if the subject is a personal pronoun, or if the statement is general, falloir may be followed by the infinitive.

Il faut que Jean le fasse, John must do it.

Il faut qu'il le fasse, } he must do it.

Il lui faut le faire, } I (you, they) must do it.

Il faut qu'on le fasse, } one must do it, or Il faut le faire, } it must be done.

Observe also :

Il leur faut de l'argent, they must have (want) money.

The Present Participle.

A present participle may be used either as an adjective or as a verb.

(1) As an adjective, a present participle follows and agrees with the noun that it modifies.

Ces hommes prévoyants ont aperçu le danger, these farsighted men have perceived the danger.

(2) As a verb, it is invariable and usually refers to the subject.

Ces hommes, prévoyant le danger, se sont mis sur leurs gardes.

These men, foreseeing the danger, put themselves on their guard.

(3) En, in, while, by, — is the only preposition that may be used with a present participle. With other prepositions, where the participle is used in English, the infinitive is required in French.

En prévoyant le danger, ces hommes se sont sauvés.

By foreseeing the danger, these men saved themselves.

Commençons par lire en (or le) français.

Let us begin by reading in (or the) French.

Tout is sometimes used before en to emphasize the continuity of the action.

Tout en mangeant, il lisait la philosophie.

Even while eating, he read philosophy.

(4) After the following verbs the present participle is generally used in English, and the infinitive in French. Instead of the infinitive, a tense of the indicative with qui may be used with all except paraître and sembler : — apercevoir, to perceive.

sentir, to feel.

écouter, to listen.

voir, to see.

entendre, to hear.

Our neighbor's daughter died this morning. 22. What are you reading? 23. Whom are you laughing at? 24. We are not laughing at you, I assure you.

93

The Past Participle.

(1) A past participle used as an adjective agrees with the noun or pronoun to which it relates.

(2) A past participle used with avoir agrees with a preceding direct object; with être, it agrees with the subject, except in the case of pronominal verbs (which are conjugated with être instead of avoir) when it follows the rule for avoir. (Lessons 25, 30, and 67.)

Study the following examples and state why each past participle is variable or invariable.

Qui a écrit les lettres que vous avez reçues ce matin ?

What has happened? 22. A poor old lady has fallen in the street in front of our house. 23. Did you see her fall? 24. I am afraid she hurt herself.

94

Aller.

(1) The present or imperfect of aller followed by an infinitive shows that the action is to take place immediately.¹

Je vais partir, I am just (on the point of) starting.

Nous allons sortir, we were about to go out.

(2) Aller also means to fit, to suit, to become.

Ce chapeau ne vous va pas, that hat does not fit (or become) you.

Cela ne va pas, that won't do.

Aller au-devant de, to go to meet.

S'en aller, to go away, is conjugated like aller:

je m'en vais, je m'en allais, je m'en allai, je m'en irai, je m'en irais, que je m'en aille, que je m'en allasse.

Imperative: va-t'en, allons-nous-en, allez-vous-en.

Savoir and Pouvoir.

Savoir must be used instead of pouvoir in the sense of to know how, to have learned to.

Compare: Il sait lire and il peut lire aujourd'hui.

Savez-vous danser ? and pouvez-vous danser ce soir ?

Devoir.

Followed by an infinitive, devoir has many shades of meaning.

PRESENT. Je dois le faire, I am (intend, have) to do it.

IMPERFECT. Je devais le faire, I was to do it.

PAST INDEF. J'ai dû } le faire, I had to do it.

PAST DEF. Je dus }

CONDIT. PRES. Je devrais le faire, I ought to do it.

CONDIT. PAST. J'aurais dû le faire, I ought to have done it.

If supposition is implied :

Vous devez être très fatigué, you must be very tired (I suppose).

Vous avez dû être bien content, you must have been well pleased.

The imperfect subjunctive (dussé-je, dût-il, etc.) at the beginning of a clause means even though :

Dussé-je être blâmé, je vous soutiendrai, even though I should be blamed, I shall support you.

Dût-elle en mourir, elle le fera, were she to die for it, she will do it.

Faire.

(3) Faire followed by the infinitive means to cause, to get, to have, or to order something done.

Il m'a fait travailler, he made me work.

• Nous ferons venir le médecin, we shall send for the doctor.

Oui, faites-le venir, yes, have him come, send for him.

Je fais bâtir une maison, I am having a house built.

J'ai fait bâtir une maison, I have had a house built.

On le fera nommer capitaine, they will get him made a captain.

Il s'est fait couper les cheveux, he has had a hair-cut.

J'ai fait faire un pardessus, I have had an overcoat made.

(4) When the infinitive used with faire has a direct object, the subject of the infinitive is in the dative case.¹

¹ The verbs laisser, entendre, voir, are usually followed by the same construction as faire: Laissez lire les élèves. Laissez-leur (or -les) lire le français.

Je leur fais lire le français, I have them read French.

Je fais lire le français à mes élèves, I have my pupils read French.

Je le leur fais lire, I have them read it.

Faites-le-leur lire, have them read it.

But: Je fais lire mes élèves, I have (make) my pupils read.

Je les fais lire, I have them read.

(5) Recall impersonal use of faire to express the state of the weather (Lesson 51): il fait chaud, froid, beau, etc.

il fait jour, it is daylight.

il fait du brouillard, it is foggy.

il fait sombre, it is dark.

il fait humide, it is damp.

il fait de la pluie, it is rainy.

il fait sec, it is dry.

il fait de la poussière, it is dusty.

il fait frais, it is cool.

But: Le temps est beau, l'air est froid, etc.

(6) Observe also the following idiomatic uses of faire:

se faire à, to accustom one's self to. faire peur à, to frighten.

défaire, to undo, to overthrow.

faire pitié, to excite pity.

se défaire de, to get rid of.

faire plaisir à, to afford pleasure to.

faire place à, to make room for.

faire faillite, to fail.

faire naufrage, to be shipwrecked.

faire un voyage, to take a journey. faire un pas, to take a step.

faire un kilomètre, un mille, to walk a kilometer, a mile.

faire une promenade, un tour, un tour de promenade, to take a walk.

faire un tour de jardin, to take a turn in the garden.

aller faire des emplettes, to go shopping.

faire le sourd, to pretend to be deaf.

faire le difficile, to be particular, faire le mort, to feign death, to keep hard to please.

still.

Formation of Tenses.

The five tenses from which we may form the other parts of regular verbs and of most of the irregular verbs are called primitive tenses, or principal parts. They are as follows: Infinitive, Present Participle, Past Participle, Present Indicative, Past Definite.

By the use of + and - signs, the formation of tenses may be clearly shown by the following Table.

INFINITIVE,	{ + ai = FUTURE. ¹ + ais = CONDITIONAL PRESENT. ¹
PRES. PARTICIPLE,	{ - ant + ons = 1st person plural PRESENT INDICATIVE. - ant + ais = IMPERFECT INDICATIVE. - ant + e = PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE.
PAST PARTICIPLE :	after avoir or être = Compound Tenses.
PRES. INDICATIVE,	{ 1st person sing. = 2d person sing. IMPERATIVE. (3d person plural - nt = PRES. SUBJUNCTIVE.) ²
PAST DEF. :	2d person sing. + se = IMPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE.

Example : Suivre, to follow.

Suivre,	{ je suivrai, FUTURE. je suivrais, CONDITIONAL PRES.
Suivant,	{ nous suivons, 1st person plural PRESENT INDICATIVE. je suivais, IMPERFECT INDICATIVE. que je suive, PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE.

Suivi,	j'ai suivi, PAST INDEFINITE.
	j'avais suivi, PLUPERFECT INDICATIVE.
	j'eus suivi, PAST ANTERIOR. j'aurai suivi, FUTURE PERFECT. j'aurais suivi, CONDITIONAL PERFECT. que j'aie suivi, PERFECT (PAST) SUBJUNCTIVE.
je suis	que j'eusse suivi, PLUPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE.
	avoir suivi, PERFECT INFINITIVE.
	ayant suivi, PERFECT PARTICIPLE.
je suis	suis, IMPERATIVE.
	(que je suive, PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE.)
je suivis :	que je suivisse, IMPERFECT SUBJUNCTIVE.

Form the tenses of the following irregular verbs from their principal parts:

Dormir, to sleep, dormant, dormi, je dors, je dormis.

Also: partir, to go out, sortir, to go away, servir, to serve, se repentir (de), to repent, sentir, to feel, mentir, to (tell a) lie, s'endormir, to go to sleep, etc., and their compounds.

Observe that the final consonant of the stem is dropped in the singular of the Present Indicative of these verbs: pars, sers, sens, etc.

Offrir, to offer, offrant, offert, j'offre, j'offris.

Also: souffrir, to suffer, ouvrir, to open, couvrir, to cover, and their compounds.

Prendre, to take, prenant, pris, je prends, je pris.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.		PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE.
je prends.	nous prenons.	que je prenne.	que nous prenions.
tu prends.	vous prenez.	que tu prennes.	que vous preniez.
il prend.	ils prennent.	qu'il prenne.	qu'ils prennent.

Also the compounds of prendre: apprendre, to learn, to teach, comprendre, to understand, entreprendre, to undertake, etc.

Plaindre, to pity, plaignant, plaint, je plains, je plains.

Also: se plaindre, to complain, and all verbs in -aindre, -eindre, -oindre, such as craindre, to fear, peindre, to paint, éteindre, to extinguish, teindre, to tint, atteindre, to reach, oindre, to anoint, joindre, to join, etc.

Naître, to be born, naissant, né, je nais, je naquis.

Like connaître and paraître, this verb has f in the stem everywhere before t.

Plaire, to please, plaisant, plu, je plais, je plus.

Third singular, present indicative, il plaît.

Also: se taire, to be silent (no f in third sing., present indicative).

Vivre, to live, vivant, vécu, je vis, je vécus.

Battre, to strike, battant, battu, je bats, je battis.

Also: se battre, to fight, combattre, to combat, etc.

Conduire, to conduct, conduisant, conduit, je conduis, je conduisis.

Also all verbs in -uire (instruire, traduire, produire, introduire, etc.), except luire, to shine (past participle, lui, and no past definite), and nuire, to injure (past participle, nui).

Passive Voice.

(1) As in English, any tense of the Passive Voice of a transitive verb is the same as the corresponding tense of the auxiliary verb followed by the past participle of the verb in question. See Appendix, page 330.

Elle est aimée de tout le monde, she is loved by everybody.

Nous avons été reçus avec honneur, we were received with honor.

(2) The passive is used far less frequently than in English, its place being taken by on with the active or by a reflexive construction.

On m'a dit que ce n'est pas vrai, I have been told that it's not true.

On leur a donné des livres, some books have been given to them.

La porte s'ouvre, mais personne n'entre, the door is opened, but no one comes in.

Cela ne se dit pas, no one says that.

97

Position of Adjectives.

Adjectives generally follow their nouns, especially :

(1) Adjectives denoting a physical quality :— shape, color, taste, etc.

Une table ronde; une maison blanche; un homme boiteux (lame); une femme malade; de l'eau froide (chaude, fraîche); une orange douce; la tête et les pieds nus (head and feet bare).

Note that like demi in demi-heure, half-hour, nu is invariable before the noun : nu-tête, bareheaded; nu-pieds, barefooted.

(2) Adjectives denoting nationality, religion, or office.

La langue française; un prêtre catholique; un ministre protestant; un décret impérial.

252 Position of Adjectives and Adverbs

(3) Adjectives taken in a literal rather than in a figurative sense.

un abîme profond, a deep abyss.

une maison chère, an expensive house.

une chère amie, a dear friend.

une histoire vraie, a true story.

une vraie histoire, a regular yarn.

For other adjectives with meanings varying according to position, see page 351.

(4) Present or past participles used as adjectives.

une personne charmante; un garçon obéissant; une porte fermée;
le Paradis perdu; une bataille perdue.

(5) In an exclamation and in the expression plus . . . plus, the more . . . the more, etc., the adjective stands after the verb.

Que le temps est beau, how beautiful the weather is!

Plus on est riche, moins on est heureux, the richer a man is, the less happy he is.

Observe use of de after que, how many, how much!

Que de fois je l'ai vu, how many times I have seen him!

ADVERBS.

Adjectives used as Adverbs.

An adjective used as an adverb is invariable.

parler bas (haut), to speak low (loud).

aller droit, to go straight.

sentir bon (mauvais), to smell good (bad).

arrêter court, to stop short.

viser haut, to aim high.

voir clair, to see clearly.

Il l'a fait exprès, he did it purposely.

Formation from Adjectives.

To form an adverb from an adjective, add -ment to the masculine if the adjective ends in a vowel; if it ends in a consonant, add -ment to the feminine.

Position of Adjectives and Adverbs 253

poli,	poliment, politely.	doux,	doucement, gently.
facile,	facilement, easily.	cruel,	cruellement, cruelly.

For further rules and exceptions, see Appendix, page 353.

Position.

When used with an infinitive, mieux, bien, mal, jamais, toujours, pas, plus, and trop generally precede the verb. (See Lesson 58.)

mieux écrire, bien parler, mal prononcer, ne jamais se tromper, ne pas rire, ne plus manger, trop courir.

Observe that regularly both parts of the negative stand before the infinitive. Personne and que follow.

Elle voudrait ne parler à personne, she would like to speak to nobody.
Je crois n'en avoir que deux, I think I have only two.

Comparison.

(6) Adverbs are compared like adjectives (Lesson 44), except that in the superlative le is invariable.

souvent ; plus souvent ; le plus souvent.

(7) The adverbs bien, mal, peu, corresponding to bon, mauvais, petit, are irregularly compared :

bien, well.	mieux, better.	le mieux, the best.
mal, badly, ill.	pis, worse.	le pis, the worst.
peu, little.	moins, less.	le moins, the least.

de mal en pis, from bad to worse.

tant mieux (pis) pour moi, so much (all) the better (worse) for me.

(8) The before a comparative is not expressed in French.

Plus on est riche, plus on a de soucis, the richer a man is, the more cares he has.

Plus il travaille, moins il réussit, the more he works, the less he succeeds.

254 Position of Adjectives and Adverbs

(9) Than before a tense of the indicative is expressed by que . . . ne.

Nous sommes plus riches que vous ne pensez, we are richer than you think.

Elle est plus studieuse qu'elle ne l'était autrefois, she is more studious than she was formerly.

But, if the first clause of the sentence is negative or interrogative, or if there is an adverb between que and the verb, the ne is left out.

N'agissez pas autrement que vous parlez, do not act otherwise than you speak.

Croyez-vous qu'un homme puisse être plus heureux que vous l'êtes depuis trois mois? Do you think that a man can be happier than you have been for the last three months?

Elle est plus malheureuse que lorsqu'elle demeurait chez vous, she is more unhappy than she was when she lived with you.

S'asseoir, to sit down.

PRESENT PARTICIPLE, s'asseyant.

PAST PARTICIPLE, assis.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

je m'assieds, tu t'assieds, il s'assied, nous nous asseyons, vous vous asseyez, ils s'asseyent.

PAST DEFINITE, je m'assis.

FUTURE, je m'assiérai.

PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE.

que je m'asseye, que tu t'asseyes, qu'il s'asseye, que nous nous asseyions, que vous vous asseyiez, qu'ils s'asseyent.

IMPERATIVE, assieds-toi, asseyons-nous, asseyez-vous.

s'asseoir, to suit, to become. asseoir, to seat. être assis, to be sitting.

1. Donnez-vous la peine de vous asseoir. 2. Qui s'est assis le premier? 3. Me voilà assis; maintenant je suis prêt à regarder tout ce que vous voulez me faire voir. 4. Où voulez-vous que je m'asseye maintenant? Par terre? 5. Quoiqu'il soit empereur, il a commis plus de crimes que le dernier misérable enfermé dans ses prisons. 6. richer a man is, the less free he is. 17. We are all glad that wars¹ are becoming less numerous than they used to be. 18. He reads better than he writes, but that is not saying² much. 19. Can't he write better? 20. Try not to write badly. 21. What beautiful roses! how good they smell! 22. Have you seen our new servant? 23. My doctor has advised me not to read any more at night. 24. Get away now! you will not have anything more. 25. I beg you not to say that. 26. I believe he says it purposely.

Negation.

(1) The use and position of the most common negative expressions have already been noted: ne . . . pas, rien, personne, etc.

Elle ne me le donne pas.

Elle n'a pas chanté.

Elle n'a rien dit.

Elle n'a vu personne.

Elle n'a que des amis.

Elle n'a plus d'argent.

Elle n'a guère d'esprit.

N'a-t-elle ni plumes ni crayons?

Que fait-elle? Rien.

Qui voit-elle? Personne.

Plus d'argent, no more money.

For position of negative adverbs used with the infinitive, see page 253.

(2) For the use of ne without pas or point, see Lessons 80 and 82; also (9) of the preceding lesson.

Ne is also commonly used alone as a negative:

(a) With the verbs pouvoir, oser, cesser, savoir, and sometimes bouger, to stir, when they are not especially emphatic.

Je ne sais que faire, I don't know what to do.

Je ne bougerai de là, I shall not stir.

Je ne puis le faire, I cannot do it.

² vouloir dire.

But generally pas is used with the form je peux: Je ne peux pas le faire. Ne is always alone in je ne saurais (je ne peux pas) and je ne sais quoi.

(b) In a subordinate clause when the principal clause is negative in meaning.

Je n'ai rien qui ne vous appartienne, I have nothing that belongs to you.

(c) After si used negatively and meaning unless.

J'irai le trouver, si vous n'y allez vous-même, I shall go and find him, if you do not go (unless you go) yourself.

(d) After que beginning a negative sentence and meaning why, or after qui in exclamations.

Que n'est-il venu, why did n't he come?

Que ne lui avez-vous dit tout ce qui s'est passé? Why did n't you tell him all that took place?

Compare with use of pourquoi, which asks for the reason, while que . . . ne is exclamatory in meaning.

(e) After depuis que or il y a . . . que, followed by the past indefinite with a negative.

Il y a dix jours que je ne l'ai vu, it is ten days since I saw him, or I have n't seen him for ten days.

If the verb is not in the past indefinite, pas or point must be used.

Il y a dix jours que nous ne nous parlons pas, we have not spoken to each other for ten days.

Il y avait dix jours que nous ne nous parlions pas, we had not spoken to each other for ten days.

(f) After peu s'en faut, or after il s'en faut negative or interrogative.

Peu s'en faut qu'il ne le fasse, he comes very near doing it.

Il ne s'en faut pas (de) beaucoup qu'il ne réussisse, he comes very near succeeding.

Oui and si, yes ; non, no.

Oui assents, but si disputes a negative.

Vous êtes prêt, n'est-ce pas ? Oui, monsieur. You are ready, are you not ? Yes, sir.

Il n'est pas ici. Si, madame, il est ici. He is not here. Yes, madam, he is here.

Vous n'avez plus d'argent. Mais si, j'en ai beaucoup. You have no more money. Why yes, I have a great deal.

Partez-vous toujours pour la Suisse ? Non, monsieur. Are you still planning to start for Switzerland ? No, sir.

Cultivate the habit of using monsieur, madame, mademoiselle, much more frequently than in English, especially with yes and no, which are rarely heard alone in France.

Observe the use of que before oui, si, or non, after verbs of saying, thinking, etc.

Dites-vous que oui ou que non ? Moi, je dis que oui. Do you say yes or no ? I say yes.

Ne . . . que and seulement, only.

Only may be expressed by ne . . . que when it refers to the complement of a verb.

Je n'en ai que deux, J'en ai deux seulement, } I have only two.

Il ne fait que jouer,
Il joue seulement, } he does nothing but play.

But Venez seulement, only come.

Deux seulement, s'il vous plaît, only two, please.

Seulement mes amis y assisteront, only my friends will be present.

1. Plus d'argent, donc plus d'amusement. 2. N'importe ; j'aime mieux ne pas m'amuser. 3. Moi aussi. 4. J'aime à croire que vous n'avez pas répété ce que je vous ai dit il y a quelques jours. 5. Je viens de recevoir de leurs nouvelles; ils se plaignent de ne pas vous voir. 26. Maintenant ils ne sont que sept.

1. How many men came when you did (= with you)? 2. There were only three. 3. Only three? 4. You have n't met any of them yet, I suppose. 5. Yes, I have met one. 6. He has no more money. 7. He has no more money than you, you mean (vouloir dire). 8. Yes, of course (bien entendu). 9. I have told her never to go out in the evening without inviting me to accompany her. 10. He likes nobody, and nobody likes him. 11. He prefers not to be agreeable. 12. Neither his parents nor his brothers will defend him. 13. They dare not do it. 14. They know that they would be wrong to do so. 15. They give him no money, but he never ceases to ask them for some. 16. It is more than six months since they gave him any. 17. Do not say anything about it, because it may not be true. 18. Why didn't you say that sooner? 19. He will certainly punish the children who do not obey him. 20. I say no; he never punishes anybody. 21. This boy reads French better than he writes it. 22. I think not, sir. 23. I say yes; what I said is absolutely true. 24. He ought to read well; that is all he does all day long. 25. Yes, he does nothing but read. 26. I told you that so as not to deceive you. 27. Let us say no more about it; let's forget it! 28. There are things one can never forget. 29. For ten days I haven't thought of it one single time. 30. It is only seven o'clock; you have time to do that. 31. We cannot eat; we are neither hungry nor thirsty. 32. Nor they either. 33. When we go for a walk together, you do nothing but run; I cannot walk so fast. 34. There is nothing he does not try to do to please us.

The Use of De.

(1) We have seen de used as of or from, as some or any in the partitive article, as than before a numeral, by denoting measure, in after a superlative, and with the infinitive after certain verbs.

Il est loin d'ici.

Elle est plus grande que moi de deux pouces.

Avez-vous de la monnaie?

La plus haute de la ville.

Plus de cinq cents.

Permettez-moi de parler.

(2) De is also used in the sense of by after certain verbs used in the passive, such as être aimé, haï (hated), craint, estimé, honoré, vu, regardé, aperçu, suivi, accompagné, précédé, etc.

Par may also be used with these verbs and throws the emphasis upon the performer of the action.

On dit qu'elle a été vue de tout le monde.	They say she was seen by everybody.
Je demande par qui elle a été vue.	I ask by whom she was seen.
Elle est aimée de tous.	She is loved by everybody.
Elle est aimée par ses enfants.	She is loved by her children.
Le général est suivi de ses troupes.	The general is followed by his troops.
Il est suivi par les troupes ennemies.	He is followed by the troops of the enemy.

(3) De means with after a large number of adjectives denoting source, separation, feeling, etc., such as: absent, plein, libre, malade, content, heureux, fier, sûr, fâché, surpris, couvert, etc.

Elle est ravie de votre succès, she is delighted with (at) your success.

(4) Observe also the following uses of de :

le chemin de Tours, the road to Tours. la ville de Paris, the city of Paris. le royaume de Suède, the kingdom of Sweden. un homme de talent, a man of talent. quelque chose de beau, something beautiful. rien de plus beau, nothing more beautiful. tout ce qu'il y a de plus beau, the most beautiful. avoir l'air de, to appear.	profiter de, to profit by.
dépendre de, to depend upon.	s'approcher de, to approach.
blâmer de, to blame for.	savoir gré de, to be grateful for.

(b) The fatal day arrived at last. Inglesant had passed a sleepless night; he had not the slightest fear of death, but excitement (émotion) made sleep impossible.

He thought often of his brother, but he had learned that he was in Paris alone ; and even had he been in England (Angleterre) he felt no especial desire to see him. Mary Collet he thought of night and day, but he knew it was impossible to obtain permission to see her, and he was tired of fruitless requests. He was weary of life and wished the excitement over, that he might be at rest. It struck him that the greatest harshness (dureté) was used towards him : his food (nourriture) was poor and no one was admitted to him. But he did not wonder at this.

SELECTIONS FOR READING.1. Un Drôle de Prisonnier.

"A moi,¹ à moi ! mon capitaine, criait un soldat, à moi ! je tiens un prisonnier. — Eh bien, lui dit le capitaine, amène-le. — Je ne demande pas mieux ;² mais il ne veut pas me laisser aller."

2. Comment on devient Maréchal de France.

Le maréchal Lefebvre³ avait un camarade de régiment qui vint le voir un jour et qui admirait, non sans un sentiment d'envie, son bel hôtel, ses belles voitures, sa nombreuse livrée,⁴ ses magnifiques appartements, tout le train enfin d'un grand dignitaire de l'empire : "Parbleu, lui dit-il, il faut avouer que tu es bien heureux, et que le ciel t'a bien traité ! — Veux-tu, lui répondit le maréchal, avoir tout cela ? — Oui, certainement. — La chose est très simple : tu vas descendre dans la cour de mon hôtel ; je mettrai à chaque fenêtre deux soldats qui tireront sur toi. Si tu échappes aux balles, je te donnerai tout ce que tu m'envies. C'est comme cela que je l'ai obtenu."

3. L'Opération Inutile.

Un officier anglais ayant reçu une balle dans la jambe, fut transporté chez lui, où deux médecins furent appelés.

³ Pronounced Lefèvre.

⁴ His great number of servants.

Pendant huit jours ils ne firent que¹ sonder et fouiller la plaie. L'officier, qui souffrait beaucoup, leur demanda ce qu'ils cherchaient : " Nous cherchons la balle qui vous a blessé. — C'est trop fort !² s'écria le patient, pourquoi ne le disiez-vous pas plus tôt ? je l'ai dans ma poche."

4. A Quoi Sert³ La Vaccine ?

Un homme très crédule disait qu'il n'avait pas de confiance dans la vaccine. " A quoi sert-elle, ajoute-t-il ; je connais un enfant beau comme le jour, que sa famille avait fait vacciner... eh bien ! il est mort deux jours après... — Comment ! deux jours après ? ... — Oui... il est tombé du haut d'un arbre, et s'est tué raide... Faites donc vacciner vos enfants après cela !"

5. Scène d'Omnibus.

La scène se passe⁴ dans un omnibus, à Paris. Deux vieilles dames sont assises l'une à côté de l'autre. L'une veut que la portière soit fermée, l'autre la veut ouverte. On appelle le conducteur pour décider la question. " Monsieur, dit la première, si cette fenêtre reste ouverte, je suis sûre d'attraper un rhume qui m'emportera. — Monsieur, si on la ferme, je suis certaine de mourir d'un coup d'apoplexie." Le conducteur ne savait que faire,⁵ lorsqu'un vieux monsieur, qui jusque là s'était tenu tranquille dans un coin de la voiture, le tira d'embarras. " Ouvrez donc la portière, mon cher ami, cela fera mourir l'une ; puis vous la fermerez, cela nous débarrassera de l'autre, et nous aurons la paix."

6. Le Docteur Abernethy.

Le docteur Abernethy était bien connu par son laconisme. Il détestait les longues consultations et les détails inutiles. Une dame, connaissant cette particularité, se présente chez lui pour le consulter sur une grave bles-sure qu'un chien lui avait faite au bras. Elle entre sans rien dire, découvre la partie blessée, et la place sous les yeux du docteur. M. Abernethy regarde un instant, puis il dit : "Egratignure ? — Morsure. — Chat ? — Chien. — Aujourd'hui ? — Hier. — Douloureux ? — Non."

Le docteur fut si enthousiasmé de cette conversation, qu'il aurait presque embrassé la dame.

Il n'aimait pas non plus qu'on vînt le déranger la nuit.
Une fois, qu'il se couchait à une heure du matin de fort mauvaise humeur, parce qu'on était venu le faire lever¹ à minuit, il entendit la sonnette retentir. "Qu'y a-t-il ?
s'écria-t-il avec colère. — Docteur... vite ! vite !... Mon fils vient d'avaler une souris. — Eh bien, dites-lui d'avaler un chat et laissez-moi tranquille !" fit² le docteur, en se recouchant.

7. Swift et le Domestique

Un jour un ami de Swift lui envoya un magnifique turbot. Le groom chargé de la commission s'était déjà maintes fois acquitté de pareils messages sans avoir jamais rien reçu de Swift. Fatigué d'une besogne aussi peu lucrative, il déposa brusquement le poisson sur une table en s'écriant : "Voici un turbot que vous envoie mon maître. — Plait-il ?" repartit aussitôt Swift. Est-ce ainsi que tu remplis tes fonctions ? Tiens, prends ce siège ; nous allons changer de rôle, et tâche, une autre fois, de mettre à profit ce que je vais t'enseigner." Swift alors s'avance respectueusement vers le domestique, qui s'était assis dans un large fauteuil, et lui dit, en lui présentant le turbot : " Monsieur, je suis chargé par mon maître de vous prier de bien vouloir accepter ce petit cadeau. — Vraiment ? reprit effrontément le valet, c'est très aimable à lui ; et tiens, mon brave garçon, voici trois francs pour ta peine."

Swift s'empessa de congédier le groom.

8. Le Cheval Trop Court.

Lalande, musicien de la chapelle de Versailles, était connu comme un homme jovial et qui aimait beaucoup le plaisir. Jeune, il lui prit envie, pendant la semaine sainte, d'aller figurer à Longchamps.¹ Il va trouver Mousset, loueur de chevaux, retient un cheval richement caparaçonné, et donne neuf francs à compte sur dix-huit,² le prix convenu. Sorti de l'écurie, il rencontre un ami qui lui parle d'une partie de Longchamps, dans sa voiture avec deux amis. " Si seulement, dit Lalande, je pouvais retirer les neuf francs que je viens de donner ! En tout cas, allons chez Mousset, et nous verrons... M. Mousset, montrez-moi encore une fois le cheval que je vous ai loué. — Monsieur, le voici. — Savez-vous, monsieur Mousset, que ce cheval-là est bien court ? — Comment, Monsieur, bien court ? — Mais certainement..." Puis s'adressant à son ami : " Voilà bien ma place, voilà la tienne, voilà celle de Daigremont... Mais où donc se placera Mondonville, et cependant il vient avec nous ? — Comment, Monsieur, vous montez à quatre ?¹ — Mais oui. — Tenez, voilà votre argent ; allez chercher un cheval ailleurs ; je ne loue pas le mien pour qu'on l'éreinte."

9. Junot et Bonaparte.

Un jour, pendant le siège de Toulon, un commandant d'artillerie, venu de Paris depuis peu de jours pour diriger les opérations du siège, demanda au lieutenant du poste un jeune sous-officier qui eût en même temps de l'audace et de l'intelligence. Le lieutenant appelle aussitôt La Tempête,² et Junot se présente. Le commandant fixe sur lui cet œil qui semblait déjà connaître les hommes. "Tu vas quitter ton habit," dit le commandant, et tu iras là, porter ces ordres." Il lui indiquait de la main un point plus éloigné de la côte, et lui expliqua ce qu'il voulait de lui. Le jeune sergent devint rouge comme une grenade, ses yeux étincelèrent. "Je ne suis pas un espion, répondit-il au commandant ; cherchez un autre que moi pour exécuter ces ordres." Et il se retirait. "Tu refuses d'obéir ? lui dit l'officier supérieur d'un ton sévère ; sais-tu bien à quoi tu t'exposes ? — Je suis prêt à obéir, dit Junot, mais j'irai là où vous m'envoyez avec mon uniforme, ou je n'irai pas." Le commandant sourit, en le regardant attentivement. "Mais ils te tueront ! reprit-il. — Que vous importe ?⁴ Vous ne me connaissez pas assez pour que cela vous fasse de la peine, et quant à moi, ça m'est égal... Allons, je pars comme je suis, n'est-ce pas ?" Alors il mit la main dans ¹ You mean to ride four together ?

² The Tempest, a nickname given to Junot.

³ You are to change your clothes.

⁴ What is that to you ?

sa giberne. "Bien ! avec mon fusil et ces dragées-là,¹ du moins la conversation ne languira pas, si ces messieurs veulent causer."

Et il partit en chantant. Après son départ : "Comment s'appelle ce jeune homme ? demanda l'officier supérieur. — Junot. — Il fera son chemin." Alors le commandant inscrivit son nom sur ses tablettes. On a facilement deviné que l'officier d'artillerie était Napoléon.

Peu de jours après, se retrouvant à cette même batterie, Bonaparte demanda quelqu'un qui eût une belle écriture ; Junot sortit des rangs et se présenta. Bonaparte le reconnut pour le sergent qui avait déjà fixé son attention. Il lui témoigna de l'intérêt, et lui dit de se placer pour écrire sa lettre sous sa dictée. Junot se mit sur l'épaule même de la batterie.² A peine avait-il terminé sa lettre, qu'une bombe lancée par les Anglais éclate à dix pas, et le couvre de terre ainsi que la lettre. "Bien, dit en riant Junot, nous n'avions pas de sable pour sécher l'encre." Bonaparte arrêta son regard sur le jeune sergent ; il était calme et n'avait pas même tressailli. Cette circonstance décida de sa fortune.

10. La Plus Grande Ganache de l'Empire.

Un jour Napoléon, fort mécontent à la lecture d'une dépêche de Vienne, dit à Marie-Louise, "Votre père est une ganache." Marie-Louise, qui ignorait beaucoup de termes français, s'adressa au premier chambellan : "L'empereur dit que mon père est une ganache, que veut dire cela ?"³ A cette demande inattendue, le courtisan balbutia que cela voulait dire un homme sage, de poids, ² The very crest of the fort.

³ What does that mean ?

de bon conseil. A quelques jours de là,¹ et la mémoire encore toute fraîche de sa nouvelle acquisition, Marie-Louise présidait le conseil de famille. Voyant la discussion plus animée qu'elle ne voulait, elle interpella, pour y mettre fin, M. R..., qui, à ses côtés,² bayait aux corneilles.³ "C'est à vous à nous mettre d'accord dans cette occasion importante, lui dit-elle; vous serez notre oracle, car je vous tiens pour la plus grande ganache de l'empire."

11. Joseph II et le Sergent.

L'empereur Joseph II n'aimait ni la représentation ni l'appareil. Un jour, revêtu d'une simple redingote boutonnée,⁴ accompagné d'un seul domestique à cheval⁵ et sans livrée, il était allé, dans une calèche à deux places qu'il conduisait lui-même, faire une promenade du matin dans les environs de Vienne. Comme il reprenait le chemin de la ville, il fut surpris par la pluie.

Il en était encore éloigné, lorsqu'un piéton, qui regagnait aussi la capitale, fait signe au conducteur d'arrêter, ce que Joseph II fait aussitôt. "Monsieur, lui dit le militaire (car c'était un sergent), y aurait-il de l'indiscrétion à vous demander une place à côté de vous? cela ne vous gênerait pas prodigieusement, puisque vous êtes seul dans votre calèche, et ménagerait mon uniforme que je mets aujourd'hui pour la première fois. — Ménageons votre uniforme, mon brave, lui dit Joseph, et mettez-vous là. D'où venez-vous? — Ah! dit le sergent, je viens de chez un garde-chasse de mes amis,¹ où j'ai fait un fier déjeuner. — Qu'avez-vous donc mangé de si bon ? — Devinez. — Que sais-je,² moi ; une soupe à la bière ? — Ah ! bien, oui, une soupe ; mieux que ça. — De la choucroute ? — Mieux que ça. — Une longe de veau ?³ — Mieux que ça, vous dit-on. — Oh ! ma foi, je ne puis plus deviner, dit Joseph. — Un faisan, mon digne homme, un faisan tiré sur les plaisirs⁴ de Sa Majesté, dit le camarade en lui frappant sur le genou. — Tiré sur les plaisirs de Sa Majesté, il n'en devait être que meilleur.⁵ — Je vous en réponds."

Comme on approchait de la ville, et que la pluie tombait toujours, Joseph demanda à son compagnon dans quel quartier il logeait, et où il voulait qu'on le descendit. "Monsieur, c'est trop de bonté, je craindrais d'abuser de... — Non, non, dit Joseph, votre rue ?" — Le sergent, indiquant sa demeure, demanda à connaître celui dont il recevait tant d'honnêtetés. "A votre tour, dit Joseph, devinez. — Monsieur est militaire, sans doute ? — Comme dit monsieur. — Lieutenant ? — Ah ! bien, oui, lieutenant ; mieux que ça. — Capitaine ? — Mieux que ça. — Colonel, peut-être ? — Mieux que ça, vous dit-on. — Comment ! s'écrie le sergent, en se rencognant aussitôt dans la calèche, seriez-vous feld-maréchal ? — Mieux que ça. — Ah ! mon Dieu, c'est l'empereur ! — Lui-même, dit Joseph, se déboutonnant pour montrer ses décorations." Il n'y avait pas moyen de tomber à genoux dans la voiture ; l'invalid⁶ se confond en excuses et supplie l'empereur d'arrêter pour qu'il puisse descendre. "Non pas, lui dit Joseph ; après avoir mangé mon faisan, vous seriez trop

FOUR FABLES BY LA FONTAINE

La Cigale et la Fourmi.

La cigale ayant chanté
Tout l'été,
Se trouva fort dépourvue¹
Quand la bise fut venue² :
Pas un seul petit morceau
De mouche ou de vermisseau.
Elle alla crier famine
Chez la fourmi sa voisine,
La priant de lui prêter
Quelque grain pour subsister Jusqu'à la saison nouvelle.
"Je vous paierai, lui dit-elle,
Avant l'ôû,³ foi d'animal, Intérêt et principal."
La fourmi n'est pas prêteuse :
C'est là son moindre défaut.⁴
"Que faisiez-vous au temps chaud ?
Dit-elle à cette emprunteuse.
— Nuit et jour à tout venant⁵
Je chantais, ne vous déplaie.⁶
— Vous chantiez ? j'en suis fort aise.
Eh bien ! dansez maintenant."

Le Corbeau et le Renard.

Maître¹ corbeau, sur un arbre perché,
 Tenait en son bec un fromage.
 Maître renard, par l'odeur alléché,² Lui tint à peu près ce langage :³
 " Hé! bonjour, monsieur du⁴ corbeau !
 Que vous êtes joli ! que vous me semblez beau !
 Sans mentir, si votre ramage⁵
 Se rapporte à votre plumage,⁶ Vous êtes le phénix⁷ des hôtes de ces bois."
 A ces mots le corbeau ne se sent pas de joie ;⁸
 Et, pour montrer sa belle voix,
 Il ouvre un large bec, laisse tomber sa proie.
 Le renard s'en saisit, et dit : " Mon bon monsieur,⁹ Apprenez que tout flatteur
 Vit aux dépens de celui qui l'écoute :
 Cette leçon vaut bien un fromage, sans doute."
 Le corbeau, honteux et confus,
 Jura, mais un peu tard, qu'on ne l'y prendrait plus.¹⁰

Une grenouille vit un bœuf
 Qui lui sembla de belle taille.¹
 Elle, qui n'était pas grosse en tout comme un œuf, Envieuse, s'étend, et s'enfle, et se travaille²
 Pour égaler l'animal en grosseur ;
 Disant : " Regardez bien, ma sœur ;
 Est-ce assez ? dites-moi ? n'y suis-je point encore ?

Allons, enfants de la patrie,
Le jour de gloire est arrivé !
Contre nous de la tyrannie L'étendard sanglant est levé.
Entendez-vous dans les campagnes
Mugir ces féroces soldats ?
Ils viennent jusque dans nos bras,
Égorger nos fils, nos compagnes !

Aux armes, citoyens ! formez vos bataillons !

Marchons, marchons !

Qu'un sang impur abreuve nos sillons !

APPENDIX OF FORMS AND RULES.

I. THE DEFINITE ARTICLE.

	SINGULAR.			PLURAL.
	Before a consonant or à aspirate.		Before a vowel or à mute.	Before all nouns.
	Masculine.	Feminine.	Masc. or Fem.
the	le	la	l'	les
of the, or }	du	de la	de l'	des
from the, }	au	à la	à l'	aux
to the, at the,

THE NOUN.

II. The gender of inanimate objects.

A short and satisfactory rule for the gender of French nouns is as follows:

Nouns having the following terminations are feminine:—

ale, ole, ule ; ure, ère, eur ;
rre, lle, ie, ié ; ée, us, ion ;
be, ce, de ; fe, ne, pe ;
se, te, té ; ve, he, aison.

As cathédrale, école, nature, faveur, terre, conversation, clémence, cité, beauté, moitié, marche, maison, liaison.

All other nouns are masculine.

As port, cheval, café, crime, village.

There are, of course, exceptions to this rule, but it holds good in 95 cases out of 100.

Observe that the rule does not apply to nouns evidently denoting males, as prince, homme, etc. ; or to nouns evidently denoting females, as princesse, dame, etc.

III. Formation of the feminine in nouns representing animate beings.

Nouns representing animate beings usually have a particular form for each sex, and their feminine, like the feminine of adjectives, is more or less regularly formed :

un Français,	a Frenchman,	une Française.
un Prussien,	a Prussian,	une Prussienne.
un jardinier;	a gardener,	une jardinière.
un baron,	a baron,	une baronne.
un jumeau,	a twin,	une jumelle.
un époux,	a husband,	une épouse.
un compagnon,	a companion,	une compagne.

(1) Those ending with an e mute are the same for both genders :

un Russe,	a Russian,	une Russe.
un esclave,	a slave,	une esclave.
un artiste,	an artist,	une artiste.

PRINCIPAL EXCEPTIONS.

un abbé,	an abbot,	une abbesse.
un âne,	an ass,	une ânesse.
un comte,	a count,	une comtesse.
un hôte,	a host,	une hôtesse.
un maître,	a master,	une maîtresse.
un nègre,	a negro,	une négresse.
un prêtre,	a priest,	une prêtresse.
un Suisse,	a Swiss,	une Suisseuse.
un tigre,	a tiger,	une tigresse.
un traître,	a traitor,	une traîtresse.

(2) Substantives ending in -eur and derived from a present participle change -eur into -euse :

le danseur (from dansant),	the dancer,	la danseuse.
le plaideur (from plaidant),	the suitor,	la plaideuse.
le buveur (from buvant),	the drinker,	la buveuse.

Formation of the Feminine of Nouns 301

(3) Substantives ending in -teur, and which are not derived from a present participle, change -teur into -trice:

l'accusateur,	the accuser,	l'accusatrice.
l'acteur,	the actor,	l'actrice.
l'instituteur,	the teacher,	l'institutrice.

Add to these: le débiteur, debtor; l'inspecteur, the inspector; l'exécuteur, the executor; l'inventeur, the inventor; le persécuteur, the persecutor.

(4) Some in -eur change it into -eresse for the feminine, such as: l'enchanteur, the enchanter, l'enchanteresse; le pécheur, the sinner, la pécheresse; le vengeur, the avenger, la vengeresse; le défendeur, the defendant, la défenderesse; le chasseur, the hunter, la chasseresse. — Chanteur has two feminines, chanteuse and cantatrice: the latter is used only of professional singers. Empereur makes impératrice; gouverneur, gouvernante; serviteur, servante; compagnon, compagne; héros, héroïne; dieu, déesse; duc, duchesse. Témoin is used for both genders, and also auteur, poète, philosophe, peintre, juge, guide, etc., and even possesseur, successeur, and professeur. Ange, angel, is always masculine.

(5) Some nouns originally feminine keep that gender, even when applied to man: la dupe, the dupe; la sentinelle, the sentry; la recrue, the recruit; la victime, the victim; la personne, the person; la ganache, the blockhead; la connaissance, the acquaintance, etc.

(6) Some names of animals form their feminine irregularly:

le béliet,	the ram,	la brebis.
le bouc,	the he-goat,	la chèvre.
le cheval,	the horse,	la jument.
le mouton,	the sheep,	la brebis.
le sanglier,	the wild boar,	la laie.
le singe,	the monkey,	la guenon.
le canard,	the duck,	la cane.
le chat,	the cat,	la chatte.
le mulet,	the mule,	la mule.
le perroquet,	the parrot,	la perruche.
le loup,	the wolf,	la louve.
le dindon,	the turkey,	la dinde.
le bœuf,	the ox,	la vache.
le coq,	the cock,	la poule.

(7) Most of the names of animals have only one form for both genders: such are:

ALL MASCULINE.

le castor, the beaver.	le cigne, the swan.
le chameau, the camel.	le hibou, the owl. l'écureuil, the squirrel.	le vautour, the vulture. l'éléphant, the elephant.	le merle, the blackbird.
le léopard, the leopard.	le saumon, the salmon.

ALL FEMININE.

la baleine, the whale.	l'alouette, the lark.
la girafe, the giraffe.	l'hirondelle, the swallow.
la panthère, the panther.	la perdrix, the partridge.
l'hyène, the hyena.	la pie, the magpie.
la souris, the mouse.	la tortue, the tortoise.

To all these nouns, when we wish to determine the sex, we add mâle or femelle: la panthère mâle, la panthère femelle; l'éléphant mâle, l'éléphant femelle.

(8) Some nouns are of double gender; for example:

un(e) artiste, an artist.	un(e) esclave, a slave.
un(e) enfant, a child.	un(e) camarade, a comrade.
un(e) malade, a patient.	un(e) propriétaire, an owner.

(9) A number of nouns change their meaning according to the gender; the following are a few of them:

MASCULINE.

page (attendant),	page,
veil,	voile,
turn, trick ,	tour,
post, position ,	poste,
pendulum,	pendule,
critic,	critique,
politician,	politique,
handle,	manche, ¹
mode, mood ,	mode,
cabin-boy,	mousse,
guide,	guide,
stove,	poêle,

FEMININE.

pound.
page (of a book).
post-office.
clock.
criticism.
politics.
sleeve.
fashion.
moss.

IV. Formation of the plural.

Nouns and adjectives form their plural by adding s to the singular: Lesson 31.

EXCEPTIONS.—(1) Nouns and adjectives ending in s, x, z, in the singular, are the same in the plural: Lesson 31.

(2) Nouns and adjectives ending in -au or -eu take x in the plural: Lesson 31.

But the noun landau, a landau (sort of carriage), and the adjective bleu, blue, take s in the plural.

(3) Nouns and adjectives in -al change al into aux; Lesson 31.

But s is added in the plural to the nouns bal, carnaval, chacal, régat, and to the adjectives amical, fatal, final, glacial, initial, matinal, naval, pénal, théâtral, and a few others seldom used.

(4) The following nouns ending in -ail change ail into aux:

le bail,	the lease,	les baux.
le corail,	the coral,	les coraux.
l'émail,	the enamel,	les émaux.
le soupirail,	the air-hole,	les soupiraux.
le travail,	the work, the labor,	les travaux.
le vitrail,	the glass window,	les vitraux.

Bétail, cattle, has no plural; bestiaux is the plural word for cattle.

(5) Seven nouns ending in -ou take x:

le bijou,	the jewel,	les bijoux.
le caillou,	the pebble,	les cailloux.
le chou,	the cabbage,	les choux.
le genou,	the knee,	les genoux.
le hibou,	the owl,	les hiboux.
le joujou,	the toy,	les joujoux.
le pou,	the louse,	les poux.

(6) Aïeul, ciel, and œil, generally make aïeux, ancestors; cieux, heavens; yeux, eyes. But aïeul makes aïeuls when it means the paternal and maternal grandfathers; ciel makes cieux when it means the testers of beds, the roofs of quarries, or "skies" in painting; and in the cases when œil does not mean properly eye, it makes œils, as, des œils-de-bœuf, oval windows.

(7) Foreign words, which have not yet been naturalized in France by custom, remain invariable, such as: des alibi, des errata, des in-folio, des in-quarto, des post-scriptum, des fac-simile, des Te-Deum, etc.

But the following take the mark of the plural: des braves, des duos, des trios, des numéros, des opéras, des zéros, des impromptus, des échos, des déficits, etc.

(8) Plural of compound nouns.

GENERAL RULES. — To form the plural of a compound noun:

(a) If the noun is composed of two nouns or an adjective and a noun, connected by a hyphen, both parts are made plural.

le chou-fleur,	the cauliflower,	les choux-fleurs.
l'oiseau-mouche,	the humming-bird,	les oiseaux-mouches.
le petit-fils,	the grandson,	les petits-fils.
le beau-frère,	the brother-in-law,	les beaux-frères.
le grand-père,	the grandfather,	les grands-pères.

But la grand'mère,	the grandmother,	les grand'mères.
une demi-heure,	a half hour,	des demi-heures.

(b) If the noun is composed of two nouns connected by a preposition and hyphens, the first noun only is made plural.

le chef-d'œuvre,	the masterpiece,	les chefs-d'œuvre.
l'arc-en-ciel,	the rainbow,	les arcs ¹ -en-ciel.

(c) If the noun is composed of a noun and a verb, adverb, or preposition, the noun only takes the sign of the plural.

le tire-bouchon,	the corkscrew,	les tire-bouchons.
l'arrière-grand-père,	the great-grandfather,	les arrière-grands-pères.

Some compound nouns have a plural form when their meaning is singular: le cure-dents, the tooth-pick; le casse-noisettes, the nut-cracker; le porte-clefs, the turnkey; un essuie-mains (or main), a towel.

(d) If the noun is composed of two verbs or of any two invariable words, it remains unchanged in the plural.

le oui-dire,	hearsay,	les oui-dire.
le dit-on,	saying, rumor,	les dit-on.
le passe-partout,	pass-key,	les passe-partout.

THE ADJECTIVE.

V. Formation of the feminine of adjectives.

GENERAL RULE. — To form the feminine of adjectives, add e mute to the masculine (Lesson 4).

EXCEPTIONS. — (1) Adjectives ending with e mute in the masculine are the same in the feminine (Lesson 4).

(2) Adjectives ending in -el, -en, -on, -et, double the last consonant, and take an e mute after it (Lesson 56).

(3) Ten other adjectives also double their last consonant in the feminine (Lesson 56).

(4) Adjectives ending in -f change f into ve (Lesson 56).

(5) Adjectives ending in -x change x into se (Lesson 56).

(6) Adjectives ending in -eur, and derived from a present participle, change eur into euse: flatteur (from flat-tant), flatteuse; grondeur (from grondant), grondeuse.

(7) Adjectives ending in -teur, and not derived from a present participle, change teur into trice:

Profanateur, profanatrice; corrupteur, corruptrice.

Adjectives ending in -érieur, not belonging to either of the above exceptions, follow the general rule: inférieur, inférieure; ultérieur, ultérieure. Add to these meilleur, majeur, and mineur.

(8) Many adjectives form their feminines irregularly (see Lesson 56).

The plural of adjectives is formed in the same way as that of nouns (see page 67).

For the comparison of adjectives see Lesson 44.

VI. Possessive adjectives.

	SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
	Masculine.	Feminine.	Both genders.
My,	mon. ¹	ma.	mes.
Thy,	ton.	ta.	tes.
His, her, its,	son.	sa.	ses.
	 } notre. votre. leur.
Our,			nos.
Your,			vos.
Their,			leurs.

VII. Demonstrative adjectives.

	MASCULINE.		FEMININE.
	Before a consonant.	Before a vowel or h mute.	Before any letter.
SINGULAR. This or that,	ce.	cet.	cette.
	 } ces.
PLURAL. These or those,

VIII. Numeral adjectives.

For cardinal and ordinal numbers, see Lessons 21 and 23.

¹ Mon, ton, and son, are used instead of ma, ta, and sa before a feminine word beginning with a vowel or h mute.

THE PRONOUN.

Definition.

A pronoun is a word used instead of a noun to avoid its repetition ; while an adjective accompanies a noun to qualify it or determine it.

In the sentence ma plume est bonne, la tienne est bonne aussi, ma is an adjective determining the noun plume, that is to say, expressing whose pen it is ; la tienne, on the contrary, is a pronoun standing for ta plume and is used to avoid the repetition of that noun, which would be disagreeable to the ear.

IX. Possessive pronouns.

	SINGULAR.		PLURAL.
	Masculine.	Feminine.	Masculine.	Feminine.

4.	re	ant	u	s s t ons ez ent	ais ais ait ions iez aient	is is it îmes îtes irent

Observations on these terminations.

(1) All verbs in the French language terminate in the same way in four of their tenses:—

The present participle in -ant.

The imperfect and the conditional in -ais, -as, -ait, -ions, -iez, -aient.

The future in -ai, -as, -a, -ons, -ez, -ont.

(2) The endings of the future and of the conditional are always preceded by r.

(3) The termination of the past participle is most important, as all compound tenses are formed by that participle preceded by avoir or être.

(4) Three forms of the imperative are like the corresponding persons of present indicative. It must, however, be remarked that the s of the second person singular of the present indicative in verbs of the 1st conjugation does not appear in the imperative. The third person, singular and plural, is taken from the present subjunctive.

XXI. Peculiarities in verbs of the first conjugation.

All the verbs of the 1st conjugation, but two, are regular, and consequently conjugated like porter. But a few, besides those which have been seen in Lessons 74, 75, present some peculiarities:

(1) Verbs in -ier, such as prier, crier, oublier, have two consecutive i's in the 1st and 2nd persons plural of the imperfect indicative and present subjunctive: priions, priez, criions, criez, oublions, oubliez; the first i belongs to the root, the second to the termination.

(2) In verbs in -yer, after the y of the root, there is an i belonging to the termination in the same parts of the verb: employions, employez.

XXII. The Passive Form.

Verbs have two Voices, namely:—

The Active Voice, when the subject does something, as, —

mon père me punit, my father punishes me.

mon père m'a puni, my father has punished me.

The Passive Voice, when the subject has something done to it, as, — je suis puni par mon père, I am punished by my father.

j'ai été puni par mon père, I was punished by my father.

Only transitive verbs have a passive voice. The passive is used much less frequently than in English, its place being taken by on with the active or by a reflexive construction. See page 244.

se laver, to wash one's self.

PAST INFINITIVE.

s'être lavé, to have washed one's self.

PRESENT PARTICIPLE.

se lavant, washing one's self.

PAST PARTICIPLE.

s'étant lavé, having washed one's self

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

I wash myself.

je me lave.

tu te laves.

il se lave.

nous nous lavons.

vous vous lavez.

ils se lavent.

PAST INDEFINITE.

I have washed myself.

je me suis lavé (ée).

tu t'es lavé (ée).

il (elle) s'est lavé (ée).

nous nous sommes lavés (ées).

vous vous êtes lavés (ées).

IMPERFECT.

I was washing myself.

je me lavais.

PLUPERFECT.

I had washed myself.

IMPERATIVE.

	lavons-nous, let us wash ourselves.
lave-toi, wash thyself.	lavez-vous, wash yourselves (yourself).
(qu'il se lave, let him wash himself.) (qu'ils se lavent, let them wash themselves.)

Observe that the pronoun object is placed after the imperative. See Lesson 63, (2). If the imperative is negative, the pronoun is placed before, according to the general rule, as :

ne nous lavons pas, let us not wash ourselves.
ne vous lavez pas, do not wash yourselves (yourself).

XXIV. Conjugation of a reciprocal verb.

PRESENT INDICATIVE.

XXVIII. Adjectives which change their signification according as they are placed before or after the noun.

Bon. Un homme bon, a good man; un bon homme, a simple man; un bon mot, a pun; une bonne parole, a good word.

Brave. Un homme brave, a brave man; un brave homme, a worthy man.

Certain. Une chose certaine, a positive thing; une certaine chose, a particular thing.

Cher. Mon cher ami, my dear friend; une maison chère, a costly house.

Commun. Une voix commune, a common voice; d'une commune voix, unanimously.

Dernier. Le mois dernier, last month; le dernier mois, the last month (of the year, of my stay in London, etc.).

Différent; divers. Les différentes (diverses) choses, various things; les choses différentes (diverses), different things.

Faux. Une fausse clef, a skeleton key; une clef fausse, a wrong key; une fausse porte, a secret door; une porte fausse, a false door.

Furieux. Un furieux menteur, a terrible liar; un homme furieux, an enraged man.

Galant. Un galant homme, a well-bred man; un homme galant, a man polite to ladies.

Gentil. Un gentilhomme, a nobleman; un homme gentil, a delightful, polite man.

Grand. Un grand homme, a great man; un homme grand, a tall man. But if, after grand homme, some other external qualities are added, it means tall: C'est un grand homme blond, bien fait. In like manner if, after un homme grand, some moral qualification is added, grand does not refer to the size: Un homme grand dans ses desseins. Le grand air, noble manners; l'air grand, a noble look.

Haut. Le haut ton, an arrogant manner; le ton haut, a loud voice.

Honnête. Un honnête homme, an honest man; un homme honnête, a polite man.

Neuf. Un habit neuf, a new-made coat; un habit nouveau, a coat of new fashion; un nouvel habit, another coat.

Nouveau. Le nouveau vin, wine different from that which was drunk before, newly broached wine; du vin nouveau, wine newly made.

Pauvre. When placed before the noun, it has the various significations which the word poor has in English: assister un pauvre vieillard, une pauvre veuve, un pauvre homme, means to assist one in poverty; le pauvre enfant, les pauvres innocents, le pauvre animal, are terms of endearment; un pauvre orateur, de pauvre vin, are terms of contempt. When placed after the noun it always signifies poverty: un homme pauvre, a needy man.

Petit. Un petit homme, a little man; un homme petit, a mean man. Observe that petit has its natural meaning when placed before the noun, its figurative, when placed after. It is the reverse with grand.

Plaisant. Un plaisant conte, an unlikely, absurd tale; un conte plaisant, an amusing story. Un plaisant homme, a ridiculous man; un homme plaisant, a humorous man.

Propre. Mon propre habit, my own coat; un habit propre, a clean coat.

Seul. Un seul homme, a single man; un homme seul, a man alone.

Triste. Un triste homme, a poor kind of a man; un homme triste, a sorrowful man.

Vilain. Un vilain homme, a disagreeable man; un homme fort vilain, an ugly man.

XXIX. THE ADVERB.

Formation of adverbs from adjectives.

Most adjectives may be made into adverbs by adding -ment:

(1) To the masculine, if it ends with a vowel: poli, poliment; sage, sagement.

EXCEPTIONS.—Impuni makes impunément; prodigue, prodigalement; traître, traîtreusement. Avengle, conforme, énorme, incommode, opiniâtre, and uniforme change e mute into é: aveuglément, etc.

(2) To the feminine, if the masculine ends with a consonant:

Pur, purement; franc, franchement; sec, sèchement; complet, complètement; heureux, heureusement; actif, activement.

EXCEPTIONS.—Gentil makes gentiment. Commun, confus, diffus, exprès, importun, obscur, précis, profond, end in -ément instead of -ement: communément, confusément, etc.

The adjectives beau, nouveau, fou, mou, being derived from bel, nouvel, fol, mol, are considered as ending with a consonant, and make bellement, nouvellement, follement, mollement.

(3) If the masculine ends in -ant or -ent, nt is changed into -mment, and the last two syllables are pronounced amant: méchant, méchamment; prudent, prudemment.

EXCEPTIONS.—The three adjectives lent, présent, véhément, make lentement, présentement, véhémentement.

EXTRACTS FROM AN ORDER REGARDING THE CHANGES IN FRENCH SYNTAX AND ORTHOGRAPHY

Adopted by the Minister of Public Instruction, February, 1901.

Le Ministre de l'Instruction publique et des Beaux-Arts,

Vu l'article 5 de la loi du 27 février, 1880 ;

Vu l'arrêté du 31 juillet, 1900 ;

Le Conseil supérieur de l'Instruction publique entendu,

Arrête :

ARTICLE 1^{er}. — Dans les examens ou concours dépendant du Ministère de l'Instruction publique, qui comportent des épreuves spéciales d'orthographe, il ne sera pas compté de fautes aux candidats pour avoir usé des tolérances indiquées dans la liste annexée au présent arrêté.

La même disposition est applicable au jugement des diverses compositions rédigées en langue française, dans les examens ou concours dépendant du Ministère de l'Instruction publique qui ne comportent pas une épreuve spéciale d'orthographe.

Pluriel des noms propres. — La plus grande obscurité régnant dans les règles et les exceptions enseignées dans les grammaires, on tolérera dans tous les cas que les noms propres, précédés de l'article pluriel, prennent la marque du pluriel. Ex. : les Corneilles comme les Gracques, — des Virgiles (exemplaires) comme des Virgiles (éditions).

Il en sera de même pour les noms propres de personnes désignant les œuvres de ces personnes. Ex. : des Meissoniers.

Pluriel des noms empruntés à d'autres langues. — Lorsque ces mots sont tout à fait entrés dans la langue française, on tolérera que le pluriel soit formé suivant la règle générale. Ex. : des exéats comme des déficits.

Noms composés. — Les mêmes noms composés se rencontrent aujourd'hui tantôt avec le trait d'union, tantôt sans trait d'union. Il est inutile de fatiguer les enfants à apprendre des contradictions que rien ne justifie. L'absence de trait d'union dans l'expression pomme de terre n'empêche pas cette expression de former un véritable mot composé aussi bien que chef-d'œuvre, par exemple. Ces mots pourront toujours s'écrire sans trait d'union.

Article partitif. — On tolérera du, de la, des, au lieu de de, partitif, devant un substantif précédé d'un adjectif. Ex. : de ou du bon pain, de bonne viande ou de la bonne viande, de ou des bons fruits.

Adjectif construit avec plusieurs substantifs. — Lorsqu'un adjectif qualificatif suit plusieurs substantifs de genres différents, on tolérera toujours que l'adjectif soit construit au masculin pluriel, quel que soit le genre du substantif le plus voisin. Ex. : appartements et chambres meublés. On tolérera aussi l'accord avec le substantif le plus rapproché. Ex. : un courage et une foi nouvelle.

Nu, demi, feu. — On tolérera l'accord de ces adjectifs avec le substantif qu'ils précèdent. Ex. : nu ou nus pieds, une demi ou demie heure (sans trait d'union entre les mots), feu ou feue la reine.

Adjectifs numéraux. — Vingt, cent. La prononciation justifie dans certains cas la règle actuelle, qui donne un pluriel à ces deux mots quand ils sont multipliés par un autre nombre. On tolérera le pluriel de vingt et de cent, même lorsque ces mots sont suivis d'un autre adjectif numéral. Ex. : quatrevingt ou quatrevingts dix hommes ; quatre cent ou quatre cents trente hommes.

Le trait d'union ne sera pas exigé entre le mot désignant les unités et le mot désignant les dizaines. Ex. : dix sept.

Dans la désignation du millésime, on tolérera mille au lieu de mil, comme dans l'expression d'un nombre. Ex.: l'an mil huit cent quatre vingt dix ou l'an mille huit cents quatre vingts dix.

Tout. — On tolérera l'accord du mot tout aussi bien devant les adjectifs féminins commençant par une voyelle ou par une h muette que devant les adjectifs féminins commençant par une consonne ou par une h aspirée. Ex.: des personnes tout heureuses ou toutes heureuses; l'assemblée tout entière ou toute entière.

Trait d'union. — On tolérera l'absence de trait d'union entre le verbe et le pronom sujet placé après le verbe. Ex.: est-il?

Accord du verbe quand le sujet est un mot collectif. — Toutes les fois que le collectif est accompagné d'un complément au pluriel, on tolérera l'accord du verbe avec le complément. Ex.: un peu de connaissances suffit ou suffisent.

C'est, ce sont. — Comme il règne une grande diversité d'usage relativement à l'emploi régulier de c'est et de ce sont, et que les meilleurs auteurs ont employé c'est pour annoncer un substantif au pluriel ou un pronom de la troisième personne au pluriel, on tolérera dans tous les cas l'emploi de c'est au lieu de ce sont. Ex.: c'est ou ce sont des montagnes et des précipices.

Participe passé. — Il n'y a rien à changer à la règle d'après laquelle le participe passé construit comme épithète doit s'accorder avec le mot qualifié, et construit comme attribut avec le verbe être ou un verbe intransitif doit s'accorder avec le sujet. Ex.: des fruits gâtés; ils sont tombés; elles sont tombées.

Pour le participe passé construit avec l'auxiliaire avoir, lorsque le participe passé est suivi soit d'un infinitif, soit d'un participe présent ou passé, on tolérera qu'il reste invariable, quels que soient le genre et le nombre des compléments qui précèdent. Ex.: les fruits que je me suis laissé ou laissés prendre; — les sauvages que l'on a trouvé ou trouvés errant dans les bois. Dans le cas où le participe passé est précédé d'une expression collective, on pourra à volonté le faire accorder avec le collectif ou avec son complément. Ex.: la foule d'hommes que j'ai vue ou vus.

Ne dans les propositions subordonnées. — L'emploi de cette négation dans un très grand nombre de propositions subordonnées donne lieu à des règles compliquées, difficiles, abusives, souvent en contradiction avec l'usage des écrivains les plus classiques.

Sans faire de règles différentes suivant que les propositions dont elles dépendent sont affirmatives ou négatives ou interrogatives, on tolérera la suppression de la négation ne dans les propositions subordonnées dépendant de verbes ou de locutions signifiant:

Empêcher, défendre, éviter que, etc. Ex.: défendre qu'on vienne ou qu'on ne vienne;

Craindre, désespérer, avoir peur, de peur que, etc. Ex.: de peur qu'il aille ou qu'il n'aille;

Douter, contester, nier que, etc. Ex.: je ne doute pas que la chose soit vraie ou ne soit vraie.

On tolérera de même la suppression de cette négation après les comparatifs et les mots indiquant une comparaison: autre, autrement que, etc. Ex.: l'année a été meilleure qu'on l'espérait ou qu'on ne l'espérait; les résultats sont autres qu'on le croyait ou qu'on ne le croyait.

De même, après les locutions à moins que, avant que. Ex.: à moins qu'on accorde le pardon ou qu'on n'accorde le pardon.

First French Course

By C. A. CHARDENAL. 16mo, cloth, 274 pages. Price, 60 cents.

Second French Course

French Syntax and Reader, by C. A. CHARDENAL. 16mo, cloth, 250 pages. Price, 60 cents.

French Exercises for Advanced Pupils

By C. A. CHARDENAL. Revised by the late Professor DELPHINE DUVAL, of Smith College. 16mo, cloth, 258 pages. Price, 90 cents.

THIS revision of Chardenal's French Exercises contains all the essential rules of French Syntax, in clear, concise form, and a valuable list of idiomatic verbs and phrases, in which English idioms are rendered by the corresponding French idioms.

Readings from French History

Edited by Professor O. B. SUPER, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa. 16mo, cloth, 324 pages. Price, $1.00.

THE choice of the selections has been determined by their suitability to the reading ability of pupils in high schools and colleges. In order that the selections may be interesting, complete episodes have, so far as possible, been given. The extracts will furnish the student a good idea of the style and manner of the best French historians. With but one exception the selections are arranged in chronological order.

The selections are as follows:—

Thierry, Conquête de l'Angleterre.

Barante, Jeanne Darc.

Louis Blanc, Situation du Peuple avant la Révolution.

Michelet, Prise de la Bastille.

Lamartine, Discours de Vergniaud.

Mignet, Chute de Robespierre.

Lanfrey, Le Décret de Berlin et l'Entrevue de Tilsit.

Ségur, Napoléon à Moscou.

Thiers, Napoléon à Sainte-Hélène.

Guizot, Histoire de la Civilisation en Europe.

Preparatory French Reader

With Notes and Vocabulary. By the late GEORGE W. ROLLINS, of the Public Latin School, Boston. 16mo, cloth, 314 pages. Price, 90 cents.

THIS reader is intended to follow the selections ordinarily found in the beginning book. It includes stories by Ortolí, Laboulaye, Jules Lemaitre, Julie Laverne, and others, and among the poems are selections from La Fontaine, Victor Hugo, Béranger, Casimir Delavigne, and Théophile Gautier. The historical pieces, with Napoleon, Louis XVI, and Marie Antoinette as dominant figures, will interest young pupils in a fascinating period of French History. They are La Retraite de Moscou by Marbot, Le Mort de Louis XVI by Duruy, Les Premiers Jours du Règne de Louis XVI and L'Échafaud by Imbert de St. Amand. The Drama is represented by Le Voyage de M. Perrichon.

The reader contains a table of the irregular verbs.

The Ça Ira Series of French Plays

Edited by Professor B. W. WELLS. 6 volumes, 16mo, cloth. Each, 36 cents.

THIS series contains plays adapted to advanced classes in high schools and to college students. The introductions give brief biographies of the authors and helpful comment on their work. The notes explain peculiarities of idiom, allusions to social and political customs, to literature, and to history. The books are particularly convenient in form and excellent in typography and binding. The series contains the following plays:—

Moi, par Labiche et Martin.

Gringoire, par Théodore de Banville, et L'Été de la Saint-Martin, par Meilhac et Halévy.

La Question d'Argent, par Alexandre Dumas, fil.

La Camaraderie, par Eugène Scribe.

Le Luthier de Crémone, et Le Trésor, par François Coppée.

Le Fils de Giboyer, par Emile Augier.

A German Grammar for Beginners

By PAUL V. BACON. Revised Edition. 12mo, cloth, 448 pages.
Price, $1.25.

THIS is a beginning book which introduces easy reading from the first, along with the usual drill in grammar. The object is to stimulate interest, to economize vocabulary, and to give unity to the first year work.

Distinguishing features of the Grammar are:—

I. Complete stories, full of interest, connected with the grammatical exercises and using the same words. The first is about the school, the second about the home, and so many cognates are used that reading may be begun as soon as the alphabet is learned. There are 105 pages of this reading matter, including poems from Goethe, Heine, and Uhland. The stories are simple and delightful and make use of every-day words. They will attract the young pupil and enliven the grammar-drill. The correlation of stories and grammar makes possible a small working vocabulary.

II. Systematic drill on grammar, each topic being treated in a group of five lessons. The language of the rules is especially simple.

III. Every fifth lesson is a review, and in addition three complete lessons are devoted to a review of the first half of the book and seven to the whole book. These reviews are twenty-three in number.

IV. Attractive material for memorizing. Each lesson begins with a proverb, idiom, or short poem, to be committed to memory. These include selections from Goethe, Schiller, Heine, Rückert, Scheffel, Müller, and many others.

The New Edition contains at the back of the book a complete Summary of Inflections arranged for ready reference. This, with the Index to Syntax, makes the book suitable for a reference grammar as well as for a beginning book.

Im Vaterland: A Reader for Pupils in their First or Second Year of German

By PAUL V. BACON. 12mo, cloth, 430 pages. Price $1.25.

"TO give the American student a better understanding and appreciation of Germany and the Germans; to furnish him with an adequate vocabulary of colloquial idioms; to point out and explain differences between German and American customs; in short, to broaden and deepen the American's knowledge and love of the German language, music, poetry, and people; these are the aims of Im Vaterland."

Distinctive features of this remarkable book are:

I. Dialogues on thirty-six different subjects (such as the German Empire, The Imperial Family, In School, At a Store, Berlin University, The Army, The Hotel, In a Theatre, At a Station, In a Train, etc.). These give the pupil a knowledge of German customs and prepare him for appreciative and intelligent travel in Germany.

II. Illustrations from photographs of German scenes, buildings, paintings, churches, and castles. Besides forty-nine of these illustrations there are six maps, including a two-page colored map of the German Empire.

III. Songs, with music arranged for high school pupils. There are twenty-seven characteristic German songs from sixteen different composers.

IV. Poems — thirty-six of them — ranging from the thirteenth to the twentieth century, especially adapted for memorizing.

V. Notes on all idioms and grammatical difficulties. They serve also to supplement the text. For example, they contain a complete list of the German States, an outline of a gymnasial course of study, biographies of the authors mentioned in the book, and kindred matters.

VI. Composition exercises on each chapter of the dialogues.

VII. A vocabulary made with unusual care, and including all the idioms used in the book.

VIII. A full, practical index of persons and of topics.

Allyn and Bacon's Series of German Texts

THIS is the most attractive and convenient series of German texts on the market. Each book contains complete notes and vocabulary, together with exercises for retranslation into German. These exercises are based on the text and afford excellent material for review as well as practice in composition. The prices will seem reasonable when the general excellence is considered. The following volumes are now ready: —

WILHELM TELL

By FRIEDRICH VON SCHILLER. Edited by Professor CARL SCHLENKER, of the University of Minnesota. 16mo, cloth, 000 pages. Price, 00 cents.

NO pains have been spared to make this the most useful and attractive edition of Wilhelm Tell now on the market. The illustrations are numerous enough to give an excellent idea of the picturesque Tell country. The book has a life of Schiller, full notes, and an historical commentary. There are citations from parallel passages in other famous literary works. An appendix is devoted to notes on poetic diction; another gives the lines of the play most often quoted. Exercises based on the text furnish a systematic study of German grammar. Questions in German are given as a basis for conversation.

First Principles of Physics

By Professor HENRY S. CARHART, of the University of Michigan, and
H. N. CHUTE, of the Ann Arbor High School. 12mo, cloth, 422 pages.
Price, $1.25.

THE present volume is more than a revision of the authors' popular High School Physics. It is a new book from cover to cover. No pains have been spared to make it mechanically the attractive volume which the increasing interest in the applications of this practical subject deserves. The cuts number 457 and will be found to constitute a prominent feature of the book. Especial attention has been given to the language, which has been made unusually simple and direct. The problems are numerous and interesting, and in them the difficulty of the actual arithmetical performance is reduced to a minimum, since it is recognized that the purpose of problems is the concrete illustration of principles rather than practice in arithmetic.

Although in keeping abreast of the times the authors have introduced many new features, they have been careful to retain the general scheme of presentation, and the just proportions, which made their former books so popular. The space given to the various topics is such as logical presentation demands. No topic is unduly emphasized in an effort at novelty of presentation. Each subject is treated concisely and is divided into numerous brief paragraphs with sub-headings, in order to aid the pupil in concentrating his mind on the points of fundamental importance.

It has been felt that many recent text-books in physics have sacrificed scientific and logical presentation in the effort to interest pupils by over-emphasis of some aspect of the science which has been considered attractive. The result of the use of such books has been a one-sided preparation and a consequent failure to meet college requirements. The authors of First Principles of Physics have shown that it is possible to produce a book which is as successful as their former texts in preparing pupils for college and at the same time yields to no competing text-book of physics in attractiveness.

First Principles of Algebra

By H. E. SLAUGHT, Associate Professor of Mathematics in the University of Chicago, and N. J. LENNES, Instructor in Mathematics in Columbia University, New York City. ELEMENTARY COURSE, 12mo, cloth, 288 pages. Price, $1.00. ADVANCED COURSE and COMPLETE COURSE, At Press.

THIS book embodies the methods of what might be called the new school of Algebra teaching, but at the same time has kept the valuable features of the books which preceded this movement.

In writing the First Principles of Algebra the authors have been governed by two main purposes: (1) to provide a gradual and natural introduction to the symbols and processes of algebra; (2) to give purpose to the subject of algebra by a constant use of it in doing interesting and valuable things. Each of these purposes leads to the same order of topics, which, however, differs in minor features from the conventional order. In the Introduction the authors offer a full explanation of their reasons for adopting the present order, which will be found to be logical and systematic.

The study of equations and their uses is regarded as the main topic for the first year's work. It is recognized that abstract equations will appear of little or no value to the pupil unless he finds uses for them; hence frequent lists of problems are provided for translation into equations and for solution. Many of these problems involve valuable mathematical concepts, so that during the first half year algebra is made to appeal to the higher and more useful types of interest, and not merely to the instinct for solving puzzles, which must be the case if the greater part of this time is spent on factoring and in manipulating complicated fractions.

The principles of algebra used in the Elementary Course are stated in a small number of short rules, eighteen in all. The purpose of these rules is to furnish in simple form a codification of those operations of algebra which require special emphasis.

Readings in Ancient History: A Selection of Illustrative Extracts from the Sources

By Professor WILLIAM STEARNS DAVIS, of the University of Minnesota; Introduction by Professor WILLIS MASON WEST, of the University of Minnesota.

Volume I: Greece and the East. 12mo, cloth, 600 pages. Price, $0.00.

Volume II: Rome and the West. 12mo, cloth, 600 pages. Price, $0.00.

THIS book sets before the student beginning the study of Ancient History a sufficient amount of source material to illustrate the important or typical historical facts which will be mentioned in his text-book. The volumes are not designed for hard study, to be tested scrupulously by minute questioning; they are meant for reading, — a daily companion to any standard text in Ancient History, — and the boy or girl so using them is sure to breathe in more of the atmosphere of the ancient world, and to get more taste of the notable literary flavor pervading Greek and Roman history, than would be possible from the study of a conventional text-book.

Volume I contains 125 different selections, of which the following are typical: The Ethics of an Egyptian Nobleman, Inscription; An Assyrian Palace, Maspero; The Shield of Achilles, The Iliad; How Glaucus tried to tempt the Delphic Oracle, Herodotus; The Ring of Polycrates, Herodotus; How Leonidas held the Pass of Thermopylæ, Herodotus; The Last Fight in the Harbor of Syracuse, Thucydides; Anecdotes about Socrates, Diogenes Laertius; How Lysias escaped from the "Thirty," Lysias; How Elephants fought in Hellenistic Armies, Polybius.

Volume II contains 148 selections, including: Brutus condemns his own Sons to Death, Livy; How the Plebeians won the Consulship, Livy; The Honesty of Roman Officials, Polybius; The Reign of Terror under Sulla, Plutarch; The Wealth and Habits of Crassus the Millionaire, Plutarch; The Personal Traits of Julius Cæsar, Suetonius; A Business Panic in Rome, Tacitus; The Bill of Fare of a Great Roman Banquet, Macrobius; How a Stoic met Calamity in the Days of Nero, Epictetus; The Precepts of Marcus Aurelius, Marcus Aurelius.

A Short History of England

By CHARLES M. ANDREWS, of Yale University. With Maps, Tables, and numerous Illustrations. 12mo, half leather, 473 pages. Price, $1.40.

THIS history of England aims to present within the compass of about 400 pages the main features of England's story from earliest times to the present day. The book traces in rapid survey the development of the people and institutions of England from Anglo-Saxon times to the close of the year 1911, and shows by what steps the primitive organization of a semi-tribal people has been transformed into the highly complicated political and social structure of the United Kingdom and the British Empire. It retains on a smaller scale the essential characteristics of the larger work by the same author, with many omissions of details, and some additions, chiefly of a geographical and biographical character.

The author tells a clear and simple story, avoiding technical expressions and yet passing over no important feature of the history that is necessary for the proper understanding of the subject.

The aim of the book is to be instructive as well as interesting. The narrative is made as continuous as possible, that the pupil may follow in unbroken sequence the thread of the story. It is accompanied with a large number of newly selected illustrations and an ample supply of maps and chronological tables. The elaborate bibliographies contained in the larger work have been omitted and only a small but selective list of the best books in brief form has been retained. The history has been brought down to date in matters of scholarship as well as chronology, and contains many views and statements not to be found in the larger work. It is designed as a text-book for half-year, or elementary courses, but it might well be used by any reader desiring a brief and suggestive account of the main features of England's history.
